Strike Curb, Continued High Taxes Advocated by Truman to Congress

MESSAGE GIVES GENERAL PLAN OF LEGISLATION

President Leaves Details
To Be Worked Out, Covers
Some Issues Only Lightly

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Smiling and conciliatory, Democratic President Truman today laid before the Republican 80th Congress a program to curb strikes, and asked continued high taxes.

His state of the union message, applauded frequently by the joint congressional session, called for legislation to outlaw jurisdictional strikes, check secondary boycotts and for a commission to devise machinery for the prevention of "paralyzing" nation-wide strikes.

The message was in large part a generalized one. It renewed only in broad outline many recommendations previously made in specific form, leaving details this time to Congress.

Minimum wage, farm program, health insurance, refugee immigration and civil rights legislation were some of the issues Mr. Truman raised for Congress to consider without telling it in detail what he feels should be done. Other problems, notably the Rent Control act expiring June 30, were not mentioned at all.

On the main courses of labor controls and taxes, where the GOP already has set sail, the Chief Executive's tact was this:

LABOR—Mr. Truman proposed legislation to outlaw those strikes and boycotts by which unions may seek to defeat rival unions or win undesired bargaining recognition, and to provide arbitration for disputes over existing contracts. None of this would cover wage disputes. Then for the "problem of nationwide strikes in vital industries," he urged Congress to provide a 20-man study commission of congressmen and representatives of labor, management and public which he said could recommend legislation by March 15.

A study commission is something Republican senators already have vetoed.

TAXES—Without mentioning the 20 percent income tax cut planned by GOP House leaders, Mr. Truman declared he anticipates a "substantial surplus" which should be used to reduce the debt. He urged Congress to continue until June 30, 1948, the wartime excise taxes which some legislators propose to slash immediately. They are slated for automatic reduction this coming June.

Marshall to Start U. S. Trip Tomorrow

NANKING Tuesday, Jan. 7 (AP)—General Marshall will leave Wednesday morning by air for Washington to confer with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson, his headquarters announced today.

Asked if the general would return to China to resume his peace efforts, his spokesman said, "No comment."

Marshall called on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek Monday night to say goodbye and inform the leader of China's government that he was returning to America.

The American general, who has struggled for more than a year to bring peace between China's Kuomintang (Government party) and the Chinese Communists, leaves behind Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart to represent the United States in any future negotiations.

Russian Christmas Eve Service Conducted With Old Traditions

Today is Christmas for parishioners of the Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church. In accordance with the Julian calendar, used by the Eastern churches, more than 50 families in the Pottstown area are celebrating the birth of Christ today.

Last night more than 100 congregation members attended Christmas Eve vespers service at church. An impressive service, it combined the solemnity of the old world prayer rituals with the resounding joy of carol singing.

After opening prayers, led by the Rev. Jonah Milasevich, bread, wine and wheat were blessed in the traditions of the old world, primarily agrarian.

Church members then filed past the Rev. Milasevich who gave each a small gift of bread and wine.

U. S. Demands Manchurian Port Be Open to Reds, Chinese

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The United States vigorously prodded Russia and China today with a demand that the Manchurian port of Dairen be opened to the world under Chinese civilian administration and free of Soviet military control.

The State department published the text of a crisply-worded note which American diplomats delivered the past Friday to the Soviet and Chinese foreign offices in Moscow and Nanking.

This was the first formal reaction in Washington to the Soviet order of Dec. 20 which summarily ended the stay of a United States naval ship on a diplomatic mission in Dairen. The vessel was sent hurrying to sea under what some Americans called an out-and-out ultimatum.

The ship had overstayed its leave while officers and Consul General H. Merrell Benninghoff tried to get Soviet permission for three American civilians, a businessman and two newspapermen, to enter Dairen. Permission was refused.

The note published today informed the Chinese and Russian governments that the United States "considers the present situation in Dairen to be unsatisfactory" and believes it should be changed in line with a Soviet-Chinese agreement of Aug. 14, 1945.

Skipping over any diplomatic inquiries of the usual kind about whether the Russians and Chinese had done anything about the situation, the United States, pointedly commented:

"This government perceives no reason why there should be further delay in reopening the port, under Chinese administration, to international trade."

The meeting is expected to take place within a week or ten days, Herbert W. Stauffer, secretary of the board, said.

The Elks' lodge will initiate the Pernley W. Kutz memorial class into the organization on Feb. 3. It was announced last night after a business meeting of the club.

The exact number of candidates to be in the class is not yet known. The meeting adjourned after routine business.

BILL TO SLASH EXCISE TAXES GIVEN TO HOUSE

Democratic Rep. O'Toole
Introduces Measure as
GOP Plans Similar Move

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A bill to end immediately the special wartime excise taxes—estimated at $1,500,000,000 a year—was rushed before Congress today even as President Truman urged a year's extension of these levies.

Rep. O'Toole (D-NY) introduced the measure to roll back the excise levies and a strong Republican move was afoot for similar action.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), chairman of the tax-writing committee, said the excise subject would get quick consideration.

These are war taxes on liquor, telephone bills, furs, luggage, cosmetics and some other so-called "luxury items." As the law now stands, the taxes will drop back July 1 to pre-war rates. The liquor tax, for instance, will slide from $9 to $6 a gallon. That on furs from 20 percent to 10 percent.

Instead of letting them end July 1, Mr. Truman asked their continuance for 12 months after that. Congress members who want to end them now say they interfere with business.

The administration vs. Congress fight on these taxes developed as Mr. Truman side-stepped direct comment on Republican proposals to cut individual income taxes by $3,500,000,000 this year—an over-all reduction of 20 percent.

His failure to mention income taxes led to surmise by some congressmen that he is opposed to the proposed cuts. Mr. Truman is expected to speak his mind on that in his economic or budget messages to be sent to Congress later this week.

Some Republican leaders indicated an inclination to go along with the President part way on the excise taxes.

Senator Taft, of Ohio, for one, agreed that it might be wise to hold the liquor tax at $9 instead of letting it drop July 1 to $6 but he commented that the Republican side of the House must be considered carefully.

The liquor levy brings in about $2,500,000,000 annually and a 43 percent reduction would mean a revenue loss of over $800,000,000 a year.

Although Mr. Truman was silent on the GOP proposal to shear 1947 personal income taxes, he hammered hard on arguments for a balanced budget and debt retirement.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), retiring Democratic appropriations committee chairman who has proposed a minimum $500,000,000 a year payment on the debt, commented:

"It is significant that the President did not recommend a reduction in taxes on corporations and big businesses and that he insisted on a balanced budget and reduction of the national debt."

Dealing directly with fiscal affairs Mr. Truman told Congress:

"In a prosperous period such as the present one, the budget of the Federal government should be balanced. Prudent management of public finance requires that we begin the process of reducing the debt."

"The budget which I shall submit to you this week has a small margin of surplus. In the budget message, I am making recommendations, which, if accepted, will result in a substantially larger surplus."

Wentzel Questioned Again in Slaying, Held for Quiz Today

A 12 hour grilling of Gerald C. Wentzel by police and Montgomery county authorities concluded at 11:30 o'clock last night and the Kenilworth man, friend of the slain Mrs. Miriam Green, was locked up in the county prison at Norristown for further questioning today.

Wentzel, who has admitted companionship with the divorcee before she was strangled to death in her apartment at 358 Chestnut street, refused to replicate himself in the murder during yesterday's questioning. Assistant District Attorney A. Benjamin Scirca said.

At the conclusion of the questioning last night, Wentzel was led from the office of District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie by County Detective Albert Murphy and taken to a cell in the county prison. It was only the second time he had left the room since the grilling began at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning.

Wentzel again will be brought before authorities for quizzing at 10 o'clock this morning, Scirca said.

Wentzel and his wife, Evelyn, were picked up by police yesterday morning and taken to the office of the district attorney in Norristown. They were grilling separately by re-lays of State, county and local authorities on the murder of the comely brunette. County authorities based the intensive interrogation on undisclosed "new developments."

Mrs. Wentzel was released shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after Scirca said her story stood up well under the questioning and that she had made no false statements.

The renewed probe into the almost quiescent murder case started yesterday morning when Assistant District Attorneys Scirca and Alexander Knight, County Detectives Albert Murphy, Harry D. Rankin, John and Michael Kuroczko and a county stenographer, Blanche Famous, left for Pottstown where they conferred with Chief of Police James A. Laughead and Patrolman Harold E. Hahn. They were accompanied by State Policemen Harry Zimmerman, Albert Kweider and Donald Beacraft, of the Collegeville station.

At the conclusion of the conference, the group split apart, and Knight, Rankin, Murphy and Beacraft went to the office of the Rev. Luther A. Krouse at the Emmanuel Episcopal church where they found Mrs. Wentzel. She has worked as secretary to the pastor of the church for several years. Wentzel was taken from his work in the Doehler-Jarvis Diecasting plant by Chief Laughead and Kweider.

Mrs. Wentzel was questioned for a short time in the office of Rev. Krouse, while Wentzel was brought to the Chestnut street (Continued on Last Page)

Mercantile Bureau Re-elects Hoffman, Opposes Sales Tax

Nathan F. Hoffman, high street merchant, was elected last night to his second consecutive year as chairman of the Mercantile Bureau of the Pottstown Chamber of Commerce during the bureau's regular monthly meeting at Howard Johnson's.

Hoffman's re-election was unanimous and followed his nomination by a three-man nominating committee. His re-election followed a precedent in which the Mercantile bureau chairman holds office for two terms.

Also nominated and elected unanimously were Fred R. Smith, vice chairman; Hillary Musser, treasurer, and Ralph H. Spare Jr., secretary.

Musser was re-elected, while Spare's nomination was automatic since he is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The bureau is made up of all retail merchants of the Chamber of Commerce. There were 20 members at last night's meeting.

Odd Fellows Dignitaries Attend Lodge's Centenary Event Here

Winding up the three-day 100th anniversary celebration of Maratoway lodge No. 214, IOOF, the lodge last night was host to a number of visiting dignitaries and ushered in a class of eight candidates who were given the third degree by the degree team of the Boyertown lodge.

After the initiation ceremony, the members and guests moved to the banquet room for luncheon where Hiram C. Bach acted as toastmaster.

The Rev. W. E. Preston Haas of Bristol, grand master of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, spoke briefly and was followed by Frank Shannon, of Philadelphia, grand secretary, the principal speaker of the evening, who congratulated the lodge on its good work and on its anniversary.

"An Odd Fellows lodge is a community makes that community a better one," he said.

Other notables of the organization were introduced to the gathering. Harry C. Stephens, past grand master; W. Martin Hess, grand conductor of the state; Harold J. Rudolph, and Frank Taylor were introduced.

Membership prizes were awarded by Bach for the members who had brought most new members into the lodge. Maurice Sassaman, took first with George A. Hamel and Ray Sweetwood getting second and third, respectively.

There was a six-way tie for fourth and fifth places. In the deadlock were Leonard Dersh, Ralph E. Fillman, William D. Focht, Nathan Murray, Alfred D. Barnard, and Luther S. Musser.

Sweetwood was in charge of the affair until Bach took over at the luncheon as toastmaster.

COUNCIL TO GET 1947 BUDGET OF $201,000

$10,000 Rise in Receipts
For Borough in Prospect;
Tax Rate to Remain Same

A tentative borough budget based on anticipated receipts of $201,000, an increase of $10,000 above 1946, will be introduced at a meeting of borough council tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Borough Manager Dow L. Sears stated the tax rate will remain at 14 mills.

Sears said receipts for the general fund from the newly-enacted licensing ordinance are estimated $15,000, while parking meters are expected to return $31,000 to the borough's coffers.

The police committee budget includes the purchase of 147 new parking meters. These will replace old meters which are becoming defective.

Purchase of one new police car is planned. Radio equipment in patrol cars is being contemplated but no final action has been taken. The system would be operated in connection with the Montgomery county headquarters at Norristown.

The police committee favors the purchase of five additional traffic signals to be placed as follows: King and Hanover, King and Charlotte, High and Evans, High and Adams, High and Beech streets.

Installation of 40 additional street lights during the year is planned. The highway committee is now making a survey of lighting conditions in outlying sections of the borough.

Purchase of 12 new fire alarm boxes is favored. Some of these will replace present antiquated boxes. It also is planned to install at least five new fire plugs in 1947.

The highway committee appropriation is approximately $75,000. Borough Manager Sears said it is planned to start some new street work this year. The committee is confronted with the problem of providing new streets for the area in the Tenth ward which was changed in the zoning ordinance from R-1 to R-4 to allow the erection of a 125 unit apartment house project by Warren R. Zern. New sewer lines also would have to be laid.

Which new sewer work? Sewer line for the school. The new line is Glasgow street.

The board received the following report of sewer connections: House connection, 4224; apartments, 1463; stores, 33; churches, 29; hotels, 8; eastward on Chestnut street. Police are making an investigation.

Donald McCann, of 20 North Washington street, reported to police that he was driving his car westward on Chestnut street, a car proceeding southward on Franklin street, ran into his machine. He jumped out to question the operator concerning the crash. The latter took to his heels and ran eastward on Chestnut street. Police are making an investigation.

Donald McCann, of 20 North Washington street, reported to police that he was driving his car westward on Chestnut street, a car proceeding southward on Franklin street, ran into his machine. He jumped out to question the operator concerning the crash. The latter took to his heels and ran eastward on Chestnut street. Police are making an investigation.

Strike Curb, Continued High Taxes Advocated by Truman to Congress

Oxygen Explosion Shatters Building

QUINCY, Mass., Tuesday, Jan. 7 (P)—Acting Fire Chief Robert Fenby said "at least one" workman may have been killed when 26 tanks of oxygen exploded late last night at the West Quincy plant of Air Reduction Sales company, shattering windows within a half mile.

The blast blew apart the 2½ story building in which the oxygen was stored, injured at least eight persons, one seriously and moved a nearby home 3½ inches off its foundation. Pieces of the building were found afterward in trees close by.

Fenby estimated damage would exceed $100,000, not including "extensive loss" to at least 12 homes near the scene.

Rivals Criticize Chief Executive On Labor Issue

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (P)—Republicans generally considered President Truman's message today a conciliatory one, applauded the spirit of co-operation and found little with which to take issue.

Of the criticism, most was centered on the labor proposals. Many Republicans thought Mr. Truman did not go far enough, and some Democrats thought so too.

Here is a cross-section of the congressional comment:

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), presiding officer of the Senate — It was a very constructive speech. It ought to open the way for helpful legislation co-operation.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) — We shall study the program in the same fine co-operative spirit in which it was presented.

BERLIN, Jan. 6 (P)—Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, new commander in chief of American forces in Europe, said today he would move his headquarters from Frankfurt to Berlin, but had no immediate plans for reorganizing the military government setup in Germany.

Clay said he would confer at length with the retiring commander, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, before making any changes. McNarney has been named senior representative to the military staff committee of the United Nations.

Clay said he intended to name a troop commander to relieve him of details in connection with the function of the European theater command, but only after talking first with McNarney.

Rocco, 'Camera Shooting' Suspect, Killed by Police

GRAND GORGE, N. Y., Jan. 6 (P)—Alphonse Rocco, hunted since New Year's eve in the "camera shooting" of his former wife, was shot to death tonight by police as he crouched in a sleeping bag under a spruce tree on a lonely hill in Patchin Hollow.

Under a full moon in this isolated Scholastic country, Rocco fired a German Walther automatic as State police and New York city detectives rapped him about a mile up the hill from a farmhouse where he had forced a man and his wife to hide him Sunday night and all day today.

Corporal Francis Hillfrank, expert tracker and crack shot of the State police, Trooper James H. Smith and Detective Henry Strauss of the 14th precinct, New York City, fired at the fugitive after he had fired the first shot. Rocco aimed four shots at Smith, then got the fatal shot in the nose.

U. S. Demands Manchurian Port Be Open in Note to Reds, Chinese

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The United States vigorously prodded Russia and China today with a demand that the Manchurian port of Dairen be opened to the world under Chinese civilian administration and free of Soviet military control.

The State department published the text of a crisply-worded note which American diplomats delivered the past Friday to the Soviet and Chinese foreign offices in Moscow and Nanking.

This was the first formal reaction in Washington to the Soviet order of Dec. 20 which summarily ended the stay of a United States naval ship on a diplomatic mission in Dairen. The vessel was sent hurrying to sea under what some Americans called an out-and-out ultimatum.

The ship had overstayed its leave while officers and Consul General H. Merrell Benninghoff tried to get Soviet permission for three American civilians, a businessman and two newspapermen, to enter Dairen. Permission was refused.

The note published today informed the Chinese and Russian governments that the United States considers the present situation in Dairen to be "unsatisfactory" and believes it should be changed in line with a Soviet-Chinese agreement of Aug. 14, 1945.

Skipping over any diplomatic inquiries of the usual kind about whether the Russians and Chinese had done anything about the situation, the United States pointedly commented:

"This government perceives no reason why there should be further delay in reopening the port, under Chinese administration, to international trade."

Marshall called on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek Monday night to say goodbye and inform the leader of China's government that he was returning to America.

Russian Christmas Eve Service Conducted With Old Traditions

Today is Christmas for parishioners of the Holy Trinity Russian Orthodox church. In accordance with the Julian calendar, used by the Eastern churches, more than 50 families in the Pottstown area are celebrating the birth of Christ today.

Last night more than 100 congregation members attended Christmas Eve vespers service at church. An impressive service, it combined the solemnity of the old world prayer rituals with the resounding joy of carol singing.

After opening prayers, led by the Rev. Jonah Milasovich, bread, wine and wheat were blessed in the traditions of the old world, primarily agrarian. Church members then filed past the Rev. Milasovich who gave each one a piece of the bread dipped in wine, and crossed all foreheads with holy oil. Each member also kissed the gospel and a holy Christmas painting.

The bread is the first food eaten by members upon leaving the church. Some of them won't eat until late today, but many feasted upon their return home last night.

The wheat's blessing, presumably for a good harvest, means little to the urban membership of this local church. In the lands from which these families migrated, farming was the principal occupation and the blessed wheat was sprinkled on the parishioner's lands in hopes for an abundant crop. No members availed themselves of the wheat last night.

At 10 o'clock this morning a divine liturgy will be held in the church.

Fire Doors Planned For School Here, Board Is Informed

Regarding a query at last night's meeting of the Board of Education by Director George D. Robbins concerning progress being made on safeguarding pupils and teachers of the Washington school building at Walnut and Penn streets from fire and smoke hazards, it was stated by Secretary Ralph P. Holloway that Inspector Paul H. Bean, of the State Department of Labor and Industry, made a recent survey of the conditions there.

Holloway said Bean has made plans to meet Engineer George W. Scutt, of Reading, for the purpose of designing fire doors for use in the school building. These would greatly lessen the danger from smoke and also halt the spread of flames, Holloway said.

The resignation of Miss Bernice M. Hawley as dietitian and manager of the Junior High school cafeteria, effective Feb. 28, was accepted. Miss Hawley has acted in that capacity for the past six years. Her home is in Mansfield, Pa.

The school board will co-operate with the teachers in the health insurance project which becomes effective Jan. 10. Secretary Holloway reported more than 85 percent of the teachers have approved the plan.

Retirement age of Pottstown public school teachers has been changed from 62 to 64 years, effective Jan. 1, 1947.

BILL TO SLASH EXCISE TAXES GIVEN TO HOUSE

Democratic Rep. O'Toole Introduces Measure as GOP Plans Similar Move

By FRANCIS M. LEMAY
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A bill to end immediately the special wartime excise taxes — estimated at $1,500,000,000 a year — was rushed before Congress today even as President Truman urged a year's extension of these levies.

Rep. O'Toole (D-N.Y.) introduced the measure to roll back the excise levies and a strong Republican move was afoot for similar action.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn), chairman of the tax-writing ways and means committee, said the excise subject would get quick consideration.

These are war taxes on liquor, telephone bills, furs, luggage, cosmetics and some other so-called "luxury items." As the law now stands, the taxes will drop back July 1 to pre-war rates. The liquor tax, for instance, will slide from 20 percent to 10 percent.

Instead of letting them end July 1, Mr. Truman asked their continuance for 12 months after that. Congress members who want to end them now say they interfere with business.

The administration vs. Congress fight on these taxes developed as Mr. Truman side-stepped direct congressional proposals to cut individual income taxes by $3,500,000,000 this year — an over-all reduction of 20 percent.

His failure to mention income taxes led to surprise by some congressmen that he is opposed to the proposed cuts. Mr. Truman is expected to speak his mind on that in his economic or budget messages to be sent to Congress later this week.

Some Republican leaders indicated an inclination to go along with the administration on the excise taxes.

Senator Taft, of Ohio, for one, agreed that it might be wise to hold the liquor tax at $9 instead of letting it drop July 1 to $6 but he commented that the remainder of the excise list "must be considered carefully."

The liquor levy brings in about $2,500,000,000 annually and a $3 reduction would mean a revenue loss of over $800,000,000 a year.

Although Mr. Truman was silent on the GOP proposal to shear 1947 personal income taxes, he hammered hard on arguments for a balanced budget and debt retirement.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), retiring Democratic appropriations committee chairman who has proposed a minimum $500,000,000 a year payment on the debt, commented: "It is significant that the President did not recommend a reduction in taxes on corporations and big businesses and that he insisted on balanced budget and reduction of the national debt."

Dealing directly with fiscal affairs Mr. Truman told Congress:

"In a prosperous period such as the present one, the budget of the Federal government should be balanced. Prudent management of public finance requires that we begin the process of reducing the debt."

"The budget which I shall submit to you this week has a small margin of surplus. In the budget message, I am making recommendations, which, if accepted, will result in a substantially larger surplus (Continued on Last Page)

Wentzel Questioned Again in Slaying, Held for Quiz Today

A 12-hour grilling of Gerald C. Wentzel by police and Montgomery county authorities concluded at 11:30 o'clock last night and the Kenilworth man, friend of the slain Mrs. Miriam Green, was locked up in the county prison at Norristown for further questioning today.

Wentzel, who has admitted companionship with the divorcee before she was strangled to death in her apartment at 358 Chestnut street, refused to implicate himself in the murder during yesterday's questioning. Assistant District Attorney A. Benjamin Scirica said.

At the conclusion of the questioning last night, Wentzel was led from the office of District Attorney Frederick B. Smilie by County Detective Albert Murphy and taken to a cell in the county prison. It was only the second time he had left the room since the grilling began at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning.

Wentzel again will be brought before authorities for quizzing at 10 o'clock this morning, Scirica said.

Wentzel and his wife, Evelyn, were picked up by police yesterday morning and taken to the office of the district attorney in Norristown. They were grilling separately by re-lays of State, county and local authorities on the murder of the comely brunette. County authorities based the intensive interrogation on undisclosed "new developments."

Mrs. Wentzel was released shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after Scirica said her story stood up well under the questioning and that she had made no false statements.

The renewed probe into the almost quiescent murder case started yesterday morning when Assistant District Attorneys Scirica and Alexander Knight, County Detectives Albert Murphy, Harry D. Rankin, John and Michael Kurozko and a county stenographer, Blanche Pamous, left for Pottstown where they conferred with Chief of Police James A. Laughhead and Patrolman Harold E. Hahn. They were accompanied by State Policemen Harry Zimmerman, Albert Kweider and Donald Beacraft, of the Collegeville station.

At the conclusion of the conference, the group split apart, and Knight, Rankin, Murphy and Beacraft went to the office of the Rev. Luther A. Krouse in the Emmanuel Lutheran church where they found Mrs. Wentzel. She has worked as secretary to the pastor of the church for several years. Wentzel was taken from his work in the Dechler-Jarvis Decorating plant by Chief Laughhead and Kweider.

Mrs. Wentzel was questioned for a short time in the office of Rev. Krouse while Wentzel was brought to the Chestnut street (Continued on Last Page)

Mercantile Bureau Re-elects Hoffman, Opposes Sales Tax

Nathan F. Hoffman, High street merchant, was elected last night to his second consecutive year as chairman of the Mercantile Bureau of the Pottstown Chamber of Commerce during the bureau's regular monthly meeting at Howard Johnson's.

Hoffman's re-election was unanimous and followed his nomination by a three-man nominating committee. His re-election followed a precedent in which the Mercantile bureau chairman holds office for two terms.

Also nominated and elected unanimously were Fred R. Smith, vice chairman; Hillary Missimer, treasurer, and Ralph H. Spare Jr., secretary.

Missimer was re-elected, while Spare's nomination was automatic since he is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

The bureau is made up of all retail merchants of the Chamber of Commerce. There were 20 members at last night's meeting.

Odd Fellows Dignitaries Attend Lodge's Centenary Event Here

Winding up the three-day 100th anniversary celebration of Manatony lodge No. 214, IOOF, the lodge last night was host to a number of visiting dignitaries and ushered in a class of eight candidates who were given the third degree by the degree team of the Boyertown lodge.

After the initiation ceremony, the members and guests moved to the banquet room for luncheon where Hiram C. Ibach acted as toastmaster.

The Rev. W. E. Preston Haas of Bristol, grand master of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, spoke briefly and was followed by Frank Shannon of Philadelphia, grand secretary, the principal speaker of the evening, who congratulated the lodge on its good work and on its anniversary.

"An Odd Fellows lodge in a community makes that community a better one," he said. Other notable members of the organization were introduced to the gathering. Harry C. Stephens, past grand master; W. Martin Hess, grand conductor of the state; Harold J. Rubright, and Frank Naylor were introduced.

Membership prizes were awarded by Ibach for the members who had brought most new members into the lodge. Maurice Samsam, took first with George A. Hessel and Ray Sweetwood getting second and third, respectively.

There was a six-way tie for fourth and fifth places. In the dead-end were Leonard Dersh, Ralph E. Fillman, William D. Focht, Nathan Murray, Alfred D. Barndt, and Luther S. Missimer.

Sweetwood was in charge of the affair until Ibach took over at the luncheon as toastmaster.

Fire Company Officers Resign In Protest Move

Twenty-one officers of the Sanatoga Fire company turned in their resignations last night in protest to a court decision forbidding the company to have a liquor license.

The decision to withhold the liquor license was handed down on Dec. 23 by a bank of three judges sitting on the bench of the Montgomery county court. This was an appeal and came after the negative ruling of the State Liquor Control board had been appealed to Judge Harold G. Knight, who upheld the board's decision. The three judges were George C. Corson, Harold G. Knight and William G. Dannehower.

Two petitions were submitted to the court at that time. One came from a group of 26 to 25 "people of substance" objecting to the issuance of a license to the company, Carl L. Pickard, president said, and the other with a list of 550 names seeking the license, was drawn up by members of the company.

He said that the company petition was apparently ignored and the company officers were sufficiently indignant about the reversal to resign in a body.

"The court is in favor of the 'people of substance' in Sanatoga," Pickard said, "we'll let them run the fire company and put out the fires." (Continued on Last Page)

Car Thief Flees Scene of Crash

A car, stolen January 1 while parked in front of 145 High street, was recovered last night at 7 o'clock as a result of a crash with another car at Chestnut and Franklin streets. The stolen car was the property of George Bell, 815 Monroe street, Stowe.

Donald McCann, of 20 North Washington street, reported to police that he was driving his car westward on Chestnut street. A car proceeding southward on Franklin street, ran into his machine. He jumped out to question the operator concerning the crash. The latter took to his heels and ran eastward on Chestnut street. Police are making an investigation.

The board received the following report of sewer connections: House connections, 4224; apartments, 1463; clubs, 83; churches, 29; hotels, 8; stores, 362; offices, 74; hospitals, 2; railroad stations, 4; armory, 1; theaters, 2; public schools, 12; library, 1; industrial plants, 45; Hilldale Village, 300; Hill School, 40; total, 6598.

On the low level sewer system 2448 miles have been installed, while on the high level there are 20.24 miles, or a total of 44.72 miles. The meeting was held at the home of the president, Dr. Lerch.

COUNCIL TO GET 1947 BUDGET OF $201,000

$10,000 Rise in Receipts For Borough in Prospect; Tax Rate to Remain Same

A tentative borough budget based on anticipated receipts of $201,000, an increase of $10,000 above 1946, will be introduced at a meeting of borough council tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Borough Manager Dow L. Sears stated the tax rate will remain at 14 mills.

Sears said receipts for the general fund from the newly-enacted licensing ordinance are estimated $15,000, while parking meters are expected to return $31,000 to the borough's coffers.

The police committee budget includes the purchase of 147 new parking meters. These will replace old meters which are becoming defective.

Purchase of one new police car is planned. Radio equipment in patrol cars is being contemplated but no final action has been taken. The system would be operated in connection with the Montgomery county headquarters at Norristown.

The police committee favors the purchase of five additional traffic signals to be placed as follows: King and Hanover, King and Charlotte, High and Evans, High and Adams, High and Beech streets.

Installation of 40 additional street lights during the year is planned. The highway committee is now making a survey of lighting conditions in outlying sections of the borough.

Purchase of 12 new fire alarm boxes is favored. Some of these will replace present antiquated boxes. It also is planned to install at least five new fire plugs in 1947.

The highway committee appointment is approximately $75,000. Borough Manager Sears said it is planned to do some new street work this year. The committee is confronted with the problem of providing new streets for the area in the Tenth ward which was changed in the zoning ordinance from R-1 to R-4 to allow the erection of a 125 unit apartment house project by Warren Zern. New sewer lines also would have to be laid.

Much new sewer work is provided for in the budget. The biggest job is on Glasgow street. Plans for the borough's new secondary sewage treatment plant (Continued on Last Page)

Montgomery Asks Mutual Understanding In Moscow Visit, Praises Soviet Army

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial staff, told the Russians upon his arrival in Moscow today that "I want to establish friendly contact with the Soviet army" from which might grow mutual understanding and respect "for the mutual benefit of us all."

He was met at the airport by Marshal A. M. Vassilievsky, chief of staff for the Soviet army, at whose invitation Montgomery came to the Russian capital. The two men shook hands warmly and in less than five minutes Montgomery had established a warm, friendly contact with his host.

Montgomery was clad in a white British warfare coat with a sheepskin collar and wearing his familiar Black Royal Tank corps beret. He looked about the snow-swept airport and said: "I'm very lucky to be here."

Montgomery and Vassilievsky held their first conversation tonight, remaining together for an hour and 20 minutes. The British commander presented his Russian host with a case of Scotch whiskey and his photograph.

Tomorrow Montgomery is to address the Voroshilov higher military academy of the Soviet General Staff. Tomorrow night he will be Vassilievsky's guest at the Bolshoi theater where a new ballet is to be presented.

Speaking into a microphone at the airport, Montgomery said in a prepared statement: "I come to Russia as a soldier. I want to pay my respects to the Soviet army—that mighty army which played such a big part in the victory of the Allies over the Axis powers in the late war."

"That war was long and terrible and great devastation was caused. When peace came we had to build a new world out of the ruins of the old, and during the early days of peace some nations were apt to plead that they had suffered in war more severely than any other nation and must therefore be given preferential treatment."

"But my view, for what it is worth, is that the nation which suffered most severely was Soviet Russia, and her people bore the suffering in brave silence and just fought on against the treacherous German invader."

"I salute the brave Russian people. I want to establish a friendly contact with the Soviet army and hope that, from that friendly contact, there may develop a mutual respect, a happy relationship which will be for the mutual benefit of us all."

Then he said in perfectly good Russian, "Dobrye Dyen (good day)."

He turned to Vassilievsky and asked: "Did you understand what I said?"

"I heard it, but I did not understand it all," the marshal replied. "I would like what I said to be put in the Russian papers," Montgomery said. "I would like for the Russian people to know what I said. I think it is true."

The Soviet marshal assured Montgomery that his remarks would be carried in the Soviet press.

While the two men stood on the snow-swept field they talked with one another through translators.

"Are you an artilleryman?" Montgomery asked.

"No," said Vassilievsky, "I'm an infantryman."

Beaming, Montgomery replied: "All the best soldiers are infantrymen."

The Soviet military band played "God Save The King" and then the Soviet national anthem. All saluted.

Montgomery then inspected a guard of honor, walking down a long line of Russian soldiers. Later the guard of honor paraded past the two military leaders, saluting them and a group of Soviet military men, members of the Moscow diplomatic corps and military attaches.

Vassilievsky told Montgomery he had a special house in which he might stay, but Montgomery, expressing his thanks, said he felt he would cause less trouble if he stayed at the British embassy with Ambassador Sir Maurice Peterson.

Gen. Georges Carroux, French ambassador to Russia, was among those present at the airport. Lt. Gen. W. B. Smith, the American ambassador, did not appear.

Montgomery drove off from the airport in the long, shiny car of the Soviet marshal. Before getting in he remarked: "It's a lovely car. I haven't seen one like it in a long time. In battle I traveled around in a jeep."

Male Teachers Plan Walkout in Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—A strike of 850 men teachers in the Chicago public high and vocational schools will start Thursday unless salaries are raised 30 percent. Hershel N. Scott, the teachers' spokesman, told the board of education today.

Scott, president of the Men's Teachers club, which claims a membership of 850 of the 1500 male instructors in the schools, said such a strike would close the schools, but acting Supt. George F. Cassell declared they would be kept open.

BRITISH VETS ENTER EGYPT; OFFENSE SEEN

Cabinet Word Awaited For Full-Scale Drive Against Jewish Group

LONDON, Jan. 6 (P)—Tanned veterans of desert campaigning rolled into Palestine from Egypt today as British army officers awaited Cabinet permission to launch a full-scale offensive against Jewish extremists.

Government sources said the offensive, if approved by the Cabinet, would be the greatest in Palestine's modern history and would smash underground groups which have killed and flogged British troops, bombed public buildings and mined highways and railroads.

They added that the reinforcements were reaching the Holy Land by road and rail, to join nearly 100,000 Tommyes already on duty there.

Prime Minister Attlee presided today over the first of four critical Cabinet meetings on British foreign policy. The Palestine question was said to be slated for consideration either tomorrow or Thursday.

The government sources predicted the Cabinet would reach a final decision on Palestine some time during the week. Besides determining whether to take "energetic" action against the extremists, the ministers also will decide the long-term policy of Palestine's future, informants said.

The Holy Land proposals were formulated the past week in conferences attended by Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner for Palestine; Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff; Attlee, Foreign Secretary; and Aneurin Bevan, Colonial Secretary.

The informants said complete unanimity existed among the conferees on the necessity of restoring law and order in Palestine.

They pointed out that Britain would have to act swiftly if she wished to liquidate the Jewish extremists before the resumption Jan. 21 of the London conference on Palestine.

She also must decide whether to create a new Arab and Jewish states within Palestine or to surrender her Palestine mandate to the United Nations, the sources added.

King George VI discussed the situation today with Cunningham. The high commissioner also held separate conferences with Attlee and Jones.

A War Office spokesman, meanwhile, described the movement over the weekend of a troop train from Egypt to Palestine as "normal." Whitehall informants said this was one of the reinforcement trains. Eleven soldiers were injured when the train was bombed 25 miles north of Cairo.

London members of the Jewish agency executive will meet tomorrow to discuss various aspects of the Palestine situation. An agency spokesman said there was little or no chance the agency would attend the Jan. 21 Palestine conference if the British army was ordered into action.

The Arab league announced yesterday that its seven member nations—Egypt, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Yemen—would be represented at the conference.

Scotland Yard police meanwhile sought two youths who stoned a London synagogue today a few hours after Jews from all parts of the city had attended the ceremonial burial of sacred scrolls burned by vandals a week ago. The attack was the third on a London synagogue in recent weeks.

French Dispatch Relief Troops To Indochina; Fighting Continues

PARIS, Jan. 6 (P)—Important elements of the French Foreign Legion have arrived in Indochinese ports to reinforce military units against insurgent Viet-Name forces, dispatches received here said today.

The dispatches added that troop and cargo planes were reaching Indochina in considerable numbers. Meanwhile, the Viet-Name radio, according to the French press agency, has broadcast a statement that Ho Chi Minh, president of the fugitive Viet-Nam government, has formally invited French colonial Minister Marius Moutet to meet him at Hanoi.

The letter of invitation, the broadcast said, was dispatched Jan. 3 to Moutet in Hanoi and saluted him as "a messenger of peace."

In Saigon today, Moutet told a news conference that broadcasts of Ho's appeals for a meeting were "just propaganda."

Moutet, who said he would leave for Paris to report to the French parliament within 48 hours, expressed hope that a cease fire order would be issued in Indochina soon. But he said it was up to the French government to determine whether steps should be taken to open negotiations for a settlement with the Viet-Name.

Moutet said that while he was in Hanoi Ho easily could have arranged a conference but had failed to do so.

Moutet indicated that perhaps the French did not consider Ho responsible for the outbreak of violence in Indochina, saying that he was not sure Ho was free to act on his own authority.

French army sources in Hanoi, meanwhile, reported that their troops had thrown back three Viet-Nam attacks in that area, and also had captured a strong point south of Haiduong.

The fighting at Namdinh, 50 miles south of Hanoi, was reported to have lapsed into "patrol activity."

Tudeh Party Seen Entering Elections In Tehran Saturday

TEHRAN, Jan. 6 (P)—The left-wing Tudeh party, often accused by its opponents of being pro-Soviet, was reported reorganizing today for the coming parliamentary elections, which it had previously threatened to boycott.

Newspaper reports of such a reorganization were accompanied by an announcement by a foreign office spokesman that Premier Ahmed Qavam was sending an investigator into Mahallat province, southwest of Tehran, to investigate reports that clashes between rival parliamentary candidates had caused the deaths of two persons and injuries of 14.

The Tudeh party has not offered any candidates for the elections, which start in Tehran Saturday and are to run through Jan. 17. Dates for balloting in other provinces will be announced later. Tudeh members have remained mostly in the background since recent attacks on their party headquarters.

Newspaper announcement said the party was drafting a platform based on "a form of government" enjoyed in England, Norway, and Sweden—that is parliamentary democracy—and a policy of "peace and international co-operation."

In reporting the violence in Mahallat one right-wing newspaper said the casualties occurred during a clash at Khumain when national police sought to arrest Maj. Hassan Hesamati, one of three parliamentary candidates. The newspaper said 100 persons were arrested.

Air Crash Survivors Praise Veteran Pilot For Rescue Efforts

VINELAND, N.J., Jan. 6 (P)—Survivors of a plane which crashed last night in a snowstorm near here, killing three persons, were high in their praise today of the rescue work of the 30-year-old service veteran pilot, who put out a fire and pulled passengers from the wreckage despite a fractured skull.

The pilot, Robert Donald Shaker, Fort Dodge, Ia., was the last living person to leave the scene and collapsed after rescue squads arrived, passengers said. He was in fair condition today at Millville hospital.

Three hospitals in the area reported all of the 20 survivors were recovering from their injuries.

The Nationwide Air Transport Service Inc., plane was traveling on charter from Miami, Fla., to Newark, carrying home-ward-bound vacationers.

Mrs. Frances Rosenthal, New York, an injured passenger, said the plane was to have refueled at either Raleigh, N.C., or Richmond, Va., but had to pass up both fields because of bad weather.

Police said the pilot had given a good radio description of the scene just before the crash, and the plane was quickly located.

Montgomery Asks Mutual Understanding In Moscow Visit, Praises Soviet Army

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Jan. 6 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial staff, told the Russians upon his arrival in Moscow today that "I want to establish friendly contact with the Soviet army" from which might grow mutual understanding and respect "for the mutual benefit of us all."

He was met at the airport by Marshal A. M. Vassilievsky, chief of staff for the Soviet army, at whose invitation Montgomery came to the Russian capital. The two men shook hands warmly and in less than five minutes Montgomery had established a warm, friendly contact with his host.

Montgomery was clad in a white British warfare coat with a sheepskin collar and wearing his familiar Black Royal Tank corps beret. He looked about the snow-swept airport and said: "I'm very lucky to be here."

Montgomery and Vassilievsky held their first conversation tonight, remaining together for an hour and 20 minutes. The British commander presented his Russian host with a case of Scotch whiskey and his photograph.

Tomorrow Montgomery is to address the Vassilievsky higher military academy of the Soviet General Staff. Tomorrow night he will be Vassilievsky's guest at the Bolshoi theater where a new ballet is to be presented.

Speaking into a microphone at the airport, Montgomery said in a prepared statement: "I come to Russia as a soldier. I want to pay my respects to the Soviet army—that mighty army which played such a big part in the victory of the Allies over the Axis powers in the late war."

"That war was long and terrible and great devastation was caused. When peace came we had to build a new world out of the ruins of the old, and during the early days of peace some nations were apt to plead that they had suffered in war more severely than any other nation and must therefore be given preferential treatment."

"But my view, for what it is worth, is that the nation which suffered most severely was Soviet Russia, and her people bore the suffering in brave silence and just fought on against the treacherous German invader."

"I salute the brave Russian people. I want to establish a friendly contact with the Soviet army and hope that, from that friendly contact, there may develop a mutual respect, a happy relationship which will be for the mutual benefit of us all."

Then he said in perfectly good Russian, "Dobro Deyen (good day)." He turned to Vassilievsky and asked: "Did you understand what I said?"

"I heard it, but I did not understand it all," the marshal replied. "I would like what I said to be put in the Russian papers," Montgomery said. "I would like the Russian people to know what I said. I think it is true."

The Soviet marshal assured Montgomery that his remarks would be carried in the Soviet press.

While the two men stood on the snow-swept field they talked with one another through translators. "Are you an artilleryman?" Montgomery asked.

"No," said Vassilievsky, "I'm an infantryman."

Beaming, Montgomery replied: "All the best soldiers are infantrymen."

The Soviet military band played "God Save The King" and then the Soviet national anthem. All saluted.

Montgomery then inspected a guard of honor, walking down a long line of Russian soldiers. Later the guard of honor paraded past the two military leaders, saluting them and a group of Soviet military men, members of the Moscow diplomatic corps and military attaches.

Vassilievsky told Montgomery he had a special house in which he might stay, but Montgomery, expressing his thanks, said he felt he would cause less trouble if he stayed at the British embassy with Ambassador Sir Maurice Peterson.

Gen. Georges Catroux, French ambassador to Russia, was among those present at the airport. Lt. Gen. W. B. Smith, the American ambassador, did not appear.

Montgomery drove off from the airport in the long, shiny car of the Soviet marshal. Before getting in he remarked: "It's a lovely car. I haven't seen one like it in a long time. In battle I traveled around in a jeep."

Male Teachers Plan Walkout in Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—A strike of 850 men teachers in the Chicago public high and vocational schools will start Thursday unless salaries are raised 30 percent, Hershel N. Scott, the teachers' spokesman, told the board of education today.

Scott, president of the Men's Teachers club, which claims a membership of 850 of the 1500 male instructors in the schools, said such a strike would close the schools, but acting Supt. George F. Cassell declared they would be kept open.

U. S. Lacks Treaty to Extradite Alexiev, State Department Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The State department said today the United States lacks any extradition treaty with Russia which might call for the forcible return of Kyril Alexiev, former Soviet trade official, to what he termed "the hell of a dictatorship" in his homeland.

Pending further study of international law, however, the State department left open the question of whether to accede to the Soviet embassy's request that Alexiev be turned over "as a criminal."

The absence of an extradition treaty alone would not bar the surrender of a foreign national if his government submitted clear proofs of criminality, officials told a reporter. The United States lacks extradition treaties with several other nations.

Political as well as legal considerations are involved in the case of the former employee of the Soviet embassy in Mexico, who is the latest in a series of voluntary expatriates from Soviet Russia. Officials indicated the decision would not be based entirely on legalistic grounds.

Thus far they have found no direct precedent to govern this country's reply to a demand made Saturday by the embassy, charging Alexiev or "Aleksiev" had "embezzled a considerable amount of money" before quitting his post in November. Alexiev now is in hiding in the United States along with his wife and two children, according to an attorney, Martin Richmond.

The embassy, in a statement, also accused him of treachery, treason, provocation, slander and failure to go home when he was supposed to. The search for precedents showed that in one case Alexandre Barmine, Soviet diplomat who fled from his post in the Balkans, came to the United States as an immigrant from Greece and thus had a different status than Alexiev.

The United States declined to hand Barmine over to Soviet authorities, as it did Victor Kravchenko, former technical expert of the Soviet purchasing commission. Soviet authorities contended Kravchenko was a member of the Russian armed forces.

BRITISH VETS ENTER EGYPT; OFFENSE SEEN

Cabinet Word Awaited For Full-Scale Drive Against Jewish Group

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Tanned veterans of desert campaigning rolled into Palestine from Egypt today as British army officers awaited Cabinet permission to launch a full-scale offensive against Jewish Extremists.

Government sources said the offensive, if approved by the Cabinet, would be the greatest in Palestine's modern history and would smash underground groups which have killed and flogged British troops, bombed public buildings and mined highways and railroads.

They added that the reinforcements were reaching the Holy Land by road and rail, to join nearly 100,000 Tommies already on duty there.

Prime Minister Attlee presided today over the first of four critical Cabinet meetings on British foreign policy. The Palestine question was said to be slated for consideration either tomorrow or Thursday.

The government sources predicted the Cabinet would reach a final decision on Palestine some time during the week. Besides determining whether to take "energetic" action against the Extremists, the ministers also will decide the long-term policy of Palestine's future, informants said.

The Holy Land proposals were formulated the past week in conferences attended by Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, high commissioner for Palestine; Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff; Attlee, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones.

The informants said complete unanimity existed among the conferees on the necessity of restoring law and order in Palestine.

They pointed out that Britain would have to act swiftly if she wished to liquidate the Jewish Extremists before the resumption Jan. 21 of the London conference on Palestine.

She also must decide whether to create separate Arab and Jewish states within Palestine or to surrender her Palestine mandate to the United Nations, the sources added.

King George VI discussed the situation today with Cunningham. The high commissioner also held separate conferences with Attlee and Jones.

A War Office spokesman, meanwhile, described the movement over the weekend of a troop train from Egypt to Palestine as "normal." Whitehall informants said this was one of the reinforcement trains. Eleven soldiers were injured when the train was bombed 25 miles north of Cairo.

London members of the Jewish agency executive will meet tomorrow to discuss various aspects of the Palestine situation. An agency spokesman said there was little or no chance the agency would attend the Jan. 21 Palestine conference if the British army was ordered into action.

The Arab league announced yesterday that its seven member nations — Egypt, Syria, Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon and Yemen — would be represented at the conference.

Scotland Yard police meanwhile sought two youths who stoned a London synagogue today a few hours after Jews from all parts of the city had attended the ceremonial burial of sacred scrolls burned by vandals a week ago. The attack was the third on a London synagogue in recent weeks.

French Dispatch Relief Troops To Indochina; Fighting Continues

PARIS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Important elements of the French Foreign Legion have arrived in Indochinese ports to reinforce military units against insurgent Viet-Namee forces, dispatches received here said today. The dispatches added that troop and cargo planes were reaching Indochina in considerable numbers.

Meanwhile, the Viet - Namee radio, according to the French press agency, has broadcast a statement that Ho Chi Minh, president of the fugitive Viet-Nam government, has formally invited French colonial Minister Marius Moutet to meet him at Hanoi.

The letter of invitation, the broadcast said, was dispatched Jan. 3 to Moutet in Hanoi and saluted him as "a messenger of peace."

In Saigon today, Moutet told a news conference that broadcasts of Ho's appeals for a meeting were "just propaganda."

Moutet, who said he would leave for Paris to report to the French parliament within 48 hours, expressed hope that a cease fire order would be issued in Indochina soon. But he said it was up to the French government to determine whether steps should be taken to open negotiations for a settlement with the Viet-Namee.

Moutet said that while he was in Hanoi he easily could have arranged a conference but had failed to do so.

Moutet indicated that perhaps the French did not consider Ho responsible for the outbreak of violence in Indochina, saying that he was not sure Ho was free to act on his own authority.

French army sources in Hanoi, meanwhile, reported that their troops had thrown back three Viet-Nam attacks in that area, and also had captured a strong point south of Haiduong.

The fighting at Namdinh, 50 miles south of Hanoi, was reported to have lapsed into "patrol activity."

Tudeh Party Seen Entering Elections In Tehran Saturday

TEHRAN, Jan. 6 (AP)—The left-wing Tudeh party, often accused by its opponents of being pro-Soviet, was reported reorganizing today for the coming parliamentary elections, which it had previously threatened to boycott.

Newspaper reports of such a reorganization were accompanied by an announcement by a foreign office spokesman that Premier Ahmed Qavam was sending an investigator into Mahallat province, southwest of Tehran, to investigate reports that clashes between rival parliamentary candidates had caused the deaths of two persons and injuries of 14.

The Tudeh party has not offered any candidates for the elections, which start in Tehran Saturday and are to run through Jan. 17. Dates for balloting in other provinces will be announced later. Tudeh members have remained mostly in the background since recent attacks on their party headquarters.

Newspaper announcement said the party was drafting a platform based on "a form of government" in England, Norway, and Sweden that is parliamentary democracy and a policy of "peace and international co-operation."

In reporting the violence in Mahallat one right-wing newspaper said the casualties occurred during a clash at Khamain when national police sought to arrest Maj. Hassan Heshmati, one of three parliamentary candidates. The newspaper said 100 persons were arrested.

Air Crash Survivors Praise Veteran Pilot For Rescue Efforts

VINELAND, N.J., Jan. 6 (AP)—Survivors of a plane which crashed last night in a snowstorm near here, killing three persons, were high in their praise today of the rescue work of the 30-year-old service veteran pilot, who put out a fire and pulled passengers from the wreckage despite a fractured skull.

The pilot, Robert Donald Sheker, Fort Dodge, Ia., was the last living person to leave the scene and collapsed after rescue squads arrived, passengers said. He was in fair condition today at Millville hospital.

Three hospitals in the area reported all of the 20 survivors were recovering from their injuries.

The Nationwide Air Transport Service Inc., plane was traveling on charter from Miami, Fla., to Newark, carrying home-ward-bound vacationers.

Mrs. Frances Rosenthal, New York, an injured passenger, said the plane was to have refueled at either Raleigh, N.C., or Richmond, Va., but had to pass up both fields because of bad weather.

Police said the pilot had given a good radio description of the scene just before the crash, and the plane was quickly located.

Senator Bilbo Plans Fight for Senate Seat

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 6 (P)—Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), told a group gathered around him in a hotel lobby here today that if he lives through a forthcoming operation he will continue his fight for a seat in the Senate "til Hell freezes over."

He arrived by automobile from Washington early in the afternoon and planned to go on to his "Dream House" at Poplarville, Miss., to await a call from his surgeon to report to a New Orleans hospital.

Asked if he planned to "step down" if the operation, the second one in recent months on his mouth, requires him to be away from his duties for several months, Bilbo commented:

Faulty Wiring Blamed For Apartment Fire

LANSDOWNE, Jan. 6 (P)—Five persons were forced to evacuate a third-floor apartment today as fire, believed caused by faulty wiring in a refrigerator, spread through the apartment.

Sixteen-year-old Robert Clements discovered the blaze in his parents' apartment and sought help from neighbors. The fire burned through the ceiling and partially damaged an attic before firemen extinguished the flames.

"That's a damned fool question I'm asked for six years," he said. Earlier he branded as "absurd" a report that he did not plan to return to Washington.

Cops Monopolize Washington Scene To Protect Truman

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (P)—It's about as easy to move a three-ring circus as it is a President of the U.S.

Mr. Truman left the White House today and went up to Capitol Hill. It's only about a mile. The streets are wide. The weather was nice.

Maybe you think that, with such ideal surroundings, all Mr. Truman had to do was to call for a car and say:

"Let's go up to the Capitol, Joe. Got a few things I'd like to tell Congress."

Possibly that's the way Mr. Truman, who hates fuss, would prefer it. But that's not the way it happens.

Early this morning all cars were cleared from the parking plaza in front of the Capitol.

Then the police moved in.

There were cops everywhere. Capitol police in their regulation blue. Plain clothesmen trying not to look like plain clothesmen. Military policemen in their white uniforms.

(With its customary thoroughness, the Army had its MPs lined up around the Capitol at 10.48 a. m. a mere two hours and 12 minutes early.)

All together, there were about 300 cops. This, according to Gus Cook, the assistant capitol architect, "might be a little more than customary." He didn't say why.

Little wooden guards were set up everywhere—sort of like the guards on railroad crossings to keep curious crows from investigating the right-of-way.

Congress came to order at noon. One of its chores: To hear a special messenger from the Senate.

This messenger said the Senate would be glad to come over and meet with the House to hear President Truman.

This news, of course, surprised no one. For all over the front chairs were placards saying: "Reserved for the Senate."

At 1:07 Speaker Joe Martin reminded Congress that the whole thing would be televised.

"I hope," he said, "you act accordingly."

At 12:08 p. m. all the preliminaries were out of the way. The House recessed to await Mr. Truman and his report on the state of the union.

Senate Chaplain

Election of Dr. Peter Marshall (above) as chaplain of the Senate by a vote along party lines, touched off the first political debate of the new session. Democrats accused the GOP of playing "partisan politics" with a religious office. Dr. Marshall is pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church in Washington.

New Tax Necessities Seen Main Issue For State Legislature Convening Today

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6 (P)—The 1947 Pennsylvania Legislature, firmly in Republican control, will convene at noon tomorrow to organize for its first postwar session with the need of new taxes a key issue.

With a GOP majority in both the Senate and House already pledged to carry out the program of Governor-elect James H. Duff, the new Legislature will consider his blunt warnings the State is going to need more revenue if present State services are continued and expanded.

Initial sessions tomorrow, however, will be continued to election of presiding officers and other officials and also to receiving the final message of U. S. Senator Edward Marston, who resigned before the end of his term as governor to enter Congress.

Governor John C. Bell Jr., who took over until Duff's inauguration Jan. 21, will present it at a joint meeting of the General Assembly at 3 p. m. along with a short address of his own.

"We are aiming for a short, business-like session and I see nothing now that will prevent that," declared Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk), Republican House leader on the eve of the meeting of the new legislature.

State Sen. Welton B. Heyburn (R-Delaware), GOP Senate leader, who will be elected president pro tempore of the upper branch until the recovery of Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, concurred in the view.

Both leaders said no action on Duff's program will come until after the inauguration Jan. 21 and then not until party leaders have a chance to study specific recommendations of the incoming governor.

Formalities tomorrow will open with the swearing in of 25 new or re-elected Senators and the entire membership of the House—207. There is one House vacancy. Sen. Heyburn will preside in the upper branch with Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster), the oldest member, opening proceedings in the House.

Rep. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, of Lehigh county, unanimous choice of the 169 Republican representatives to succeed Rep. Ira T. Pas (R-Snyder) as speaker, will be elected in the House with Heyburn's choice also assured in the upper branch.

Republican State Chairman Taylor has been nominated for re-election as presiding officer of the Senate but elevation of former Lieutenant-Governor Bell to chief executive and Taylor's illness makes necessary temporary election of Heyburn.

"At present, we will go along without a floor leader," Heyburn said, explaining there will be no need for one in the initial week.

Final details for the opening ceremonies will be worked out at closed meetings of Republican House members and Democratic legislators tonight and Republican senators tomorrow morning.

Among subjects up for discussion

The 36 Democrats in the House already have renamed Rep. H. O. Andrews as minority floor leader and Rep. James E. Lovett (D-Westmoreland) as whip with Rep. Harry O'Neill (D-Lackawanna), their candidate for speaker.

In the Senate, the 16 Democratic senators again picked John H. Dent, Westmoreland, for their leader.

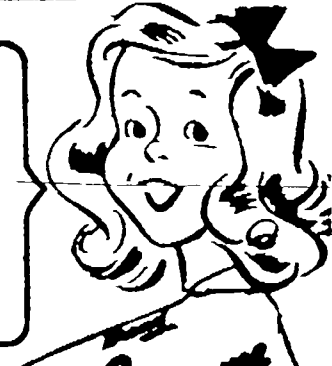

State governments spent about half a billion dollars on highway construction in 1946 as compared with a billion and a half spent in 1939.

New Orleans Starts Program Leading To Mardi Gras Fele

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6 (P)—Scarcely pausing to catch its breath after the Sugar Bowl sports festival, fun-loving New Orleans plunged tonight into the make-believe whirl of carnival balls leading up to the frolic of Mardi Gras.

The ball of the Twelfth Night Revelers, held tonight at the Municipal auditorium, is the traditional opening of the carnival season. The climax comes on Mardi Gras, "Fat Tuesday," a day of public masking and parading and sky-larking before the solemnity of Lent.

A moveable feast 47 days before Easter, Mardi Gras falls this year Feb. 18.

Almost nightly from now on, some lucky girl will reign as queen for an evening over the pageantry, tableaux and dancing of a carnival ball. The larger and older maskers' organizations choose their fair rulers from among the season's debutantes, and a favored debutante will be queen of Mardi Gras on the climactic day.

Tonight's queen was chosen by lot, drawing a golden bean from a cake in accordance with the custom of Twelfth Night Revelers. Others are selected by the respective maskers' groups.

As invitations to the balls come only through membership in an organization or acquaintance with a member, the tens of thousands of Mardi Gras visitors find chief interest in the final week when the street parades begin.

Parades are scheduled daily for that week except Saturday. Most

FOR 1947 we are planning THE BIGGEST YEAR OF EXPANSION in our history

We're planning to put up 14 new buildings and to install central office equipment in them—make major additions to 13 others—and to enlarge almost every central office in the state . . . a central office expansion program twice the size of last year's, which was, itself, one of our biggest.

We're planning to place 450,000 miles of wire . . . wire enough to reach from here to the moon and almost back again, or to go 18 times around the earth.

We're planning for continued record-breaking installations of telephones—to add nearly 200,000 to the total now in service in Pennsylvania's cities, towns and rural areas.

We're planning, by the end of this year, to have telephone service available for nearly everyone who wants it, anywhere in the territory we serve.

It's an enormous job—a $65,000,000 job, as a matter of fact—and it may not all be clear sailing. We'll have plenty of obstacles to overcome. Some of them—like continuing shortages of basic materials—are with us now. Others—unpredictables beyond our control—may arise to plague us. But we've faced them before and we'll face them again.

So we're going ahead, in spite of anything and everything. We have the organization and the know-how, the ingenuity and the resourcefulness, the desire and the will to get this job done . . . to take this $65,000,000 stride towards giving Pennsylvanians the finest telephone service in the world.

Senator Bilbo Plans Fight for Senate Seat

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 6 (AP)—Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), told a group gathered around him in a hotel lobby here today that if he lives through a forthcoming operation he will continue his fight for a seat in the Senate "til Hell freezes over."

He arrived by automobile from Washington early in the afternoon and planned to go on to his "Dream House" at Poplarville, Miss., to await a call from his surgeon to report to a New Orleans hospital.

Asked if he planned to "step down" if the operation, the second one in recent months on his month requires him to be away from his duties for several months, Bilbo commented:

Faulty Wiring Blamed For Apartment Fire

LANSDOWNE, Jan. 6 (AP)—Five persons were forced to evacuate a third-floor apartment today as fire, believed caused by faulty wiring in a refrigerator, spread through the apartment.

Sixteen-year-old Robert Clements discovered the blaze in his parents' apartment and sought help from neighbors. The fire burned through the ceiling and partially damaged an attic before firemen extinguished the flames.

"That's a damned poor question. I'm elected for six years."

Earlier he branded as "absurd" a report that he did not plan to return to Washington.

Cops Monopolize Washington Scene To Protect Truman

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—It's about as easy to move a three-ring circus as it is a President of the U.S.

Mr. Truman left the White House today, and went up to Capitol Hill. It's only about a mile. The streets are wide. The weather was nice. Maybe you think that, with such ideal surroundings, all Mr. Truman had to do was to call for a car and say:

"Let's go up to the Capitol, Joe. Got a few things I'd like to tell Congress."

Possibly that's the way Mr. Truman, who hates fuss, would prefer it. But that's not the way it happens.

Early this morning all cars were cleared from the parking plaza in front of the Capitol.

Then the police moved in.

There were cops everywhere. Capitol police in their regulation blue. Plain clothesmen trying not to look like plain clothesmen. Military policemen in their white gaiters.

(With its customary thoroughness, the Army had its MP's lined up around the Capitol at 10:48 a. m., a mere two hours and 12 minutes early).

All together, there were about 300 cops. This, according to Gus Cook, the assistant capitol architect, "might be a little more than customary." He didn't say why.

Little wooden guards were set up everywhere—sort of like the guards on railroad crossings to keep curious cows from investigating the right-of-way.

Congress came to order at noon. One of its chores: To hear a special messenger from the Senate.

This messenger said the Senate would be glad to come over and meet with the House to hear President Truman.

This news, of course, surprised no one. For all over the front chains were placards saying: "Reserved for the Senate."

At 1:07 Speaker Joe Martin reminded Congress that the whole thing would be televised.

"I hope," he said, "you act accordingly."

At 12:08 p. m. all the preliminaries were out of the way. The House recessed to await Mr. Truman and his report on the state of the union.

Senate Chaplain

Election of Dr. Peter Marshall (above) as chaplain of the Senate by a vote along party lines touched off the first political debate of the new session. Democrats accused the GOP of playing "partisan politics" with a religious office. Dr. Marshall is pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church in Washington.

New Tax Necessities Seen Main Issue For State Legislature Convening Today

HARRISBURG, Jan. 6 (AP)—The 1947 Pennsylvania Legislature, firmly in Republican control, will convene at noon tomorrow to organize for its first postwar session with the need of new taxes a key issue.

With GOP majority in both the Senate and House already pledged to carry out the program of Governor-elect James H. Duff, the new Legislature will consider his blunt warnings the State is going to need more revenue if present State services are continued and expanded.

Initial sessions tomorrow, however, will be confined to election of presiding officers and other officials and also to receiving the final message of U. S. Senator Edward Martin, who resigned before the end of his term as governor to enter Congress.

Governor John C. Bell Jr., who took over until Duff's inauguration Jan. 21, will present it at a joint meeting of the General Assembly at 3 p. m. along with a short address of his own.

"We are aiming for a short, business-like session and I see nothing now that will prevent that," declared Rep. Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk), Republican House leader on the eve of the meeting of the new legislature.

State Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn (R-Delaware), GOP Senate leader, who will be elected president pro tempore of the upper branch until at the Republican House caucus were plans to push through legislation to "streamline" the assembly's personnel set-up before law-makers get down to the bigger tasks in the third week of the month. This will keep the legislature here for the remainder of the week.

The measure calls for "equal pay for equal work" on the part of legislative employees with an increase in stenographic help for committees and abolition of some clerkships. Leaders estimated the changes will add $36,000 to the assembly's payroll.

In addition to electing a speaker, the House will re-elect William E. Habbysaw, Harrisburg, chief clerk, and William Roan, Plymouth, secretary.

G. Harold Watkins, Frackville, was the Republican choice for re-election as Senate secretary, William J. Ridge, as chief clerk, and Charles A. P. Bartlett, as librarian.

E. Edward Hannestad, Harrisburg, was the GOP choice for director of the assembly's legislative reference bureau, with his election set for the joint session.

The 38 Democrats in the House already have renamed Rep. H. G. Andrews as minority floor leader and Rep. James E. Lovett (D-Westmoreland) as whip with Rep. Harry O'Neill (D-Lackawanna), their candidate for speaker.

In the Senate, the 16 Democratic senators again picked John H. Dent, Westmoreland, for their leader.

State governments spent about half a billion dollars on highway construction in 1946 as compared with a billion and a half spent in 1930.

New Orleans Starts Program Leading To Mardi Gras Fete

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Scarcely pausing to catch its breath after the Sugar Bowl sports festival, fun-loving New Orleans plunged to-night into the make-believe whirl of carnival balls leading up to the frolic of Mardi Gras.

The ball of the Twelfth Night Revelers, held tonight at the Municipal auditorium, is the traditional opening of the carnival season. The climax comes on Mardi Gras, "Fat Tuesday," a day of public masking and parading and sky-larking before the solemnity of Lent.

A moveable feast 47 days before Easter, Mardi Gras falls this year Feb. 18.

Almost nightly from now on, some lucky girl will reign as queen for an evening over the pageantry, tableaux and dancing of a carnival ball. The larger and older maskers' organizations choose their fair rulers from among the season's debutantes, and a favored debutante will be queen of Mardi Gras on the climactic day.

Tonight's queen was chosen by lot, drawing a golden bean from a cake in accordance with the custom of Twelfth Night Revelers. Others are selected by the respective maskers' groups.

As invitations to the balls come only through membership in an organization or acquaintance with a member, the tens of thousands of Mardi Gras visitors find chief interest in the final week when the street parades begin.

Parades are scheduled daily for that week except Saturday. Most

Civil rights proposals.

Universal training recommendations.

Nothing is useless to the man of sense; he turns everything to account. —La Fontaine.

These People on Farms

THE CITIES have taken people from the country in increasing numbers. Today only 18 percent of the population of the United States lives on farms. In 1930 the percentage was 25. A century ago the majority of Americans engaged in farming.

So, in a way, it's lucky for those who left the country—either personally or via ancestors—that prices for farm products have been high enough to keep 25,000,000 people on the soil.

During the war they supplied the food not only for military and civilian America, but huge quantities for our allies overseas. They raised more wheat and corn and other crops than the United States ever produced before, and they did it with fewer hired men and with depleted soil.

That farm production was, fundamentally, the most important defense measure of all. Without it, all else would have failed.

Just what sort of people are those who are left on farms?

In one sense they have become more a type than ever before, because now they may be said to have chosen farming. Even if they were born on farms, they could have departed to well paid jobs elsewhere. Those who are left have pretty definite reasons and qualifications for staying.

1. They are good businessmen, for one thing.

They have to be to keep their accounts, take advantage of the markets, arrange financing. They have good-sized investments in their land, stock, machinery and buildings.

2. They are hard workers. Although the 5 a.m.-to-9 p.m. schedule is a thing of the past on most places, farmers put in longer hours of harder work than the usual worker elsewhere. National studies show they work 65 hours a week, compared to about 40 in manufacturing industries.

3. They are independent-minded. Their apt parent conservatism is based on a determination not to accept an innovation until they can see its worth demonstrated. It may be only a fad. And despite the whims of weather, insects and markets, they pretty much boss their own existence.

4. They are co-operative. They are ready to help a neighbor or serve on a community project. They have built up the nation's strongest co-operative marketing associations.

But above all that—and this possibility is the strongest factor in keeping them on the farm—is a sort of religion of the land.

The true farmer, for all his taciturnity, gets great pleasure from walking in the mellow, humus-laden earth after plowing.

He is a strong practitioner of soil conservation, once he has learned its meaning.

He likes to rock his ear for the sound of corn unfurling in its rapid summer growth.

He likes to rest his eyes on the green, rolling meadows, on the clean fields resting after harvest.

He has a kinship with his surroundings such as other workers seldom know.

Happily for the nation, which can't afford to be without a healthy agriculture, this faith in the land is gaining converts among the youth. 4-H clubs and similar organizations are revealing all the fascination which up-to-date farm life can hold. Such definite projects as a calf which a girl can call her own, an acre of prize corn for a lad build an understanding of the best in agriculture and strengthen an interest which often will last for life.

Farming has been good to the farmers these past several years. It will not be so good in 1947, the bureau of agricultural economics forecasts. While farmers do not have to be pampered by the rest of the nation, they do have to make ends meet.

It is true that a prosperous agriculture depends upon prosperous workers who can eat well. But it is even more fundamental that the nation stays alive by the fruits of the farm. In our inter-dependent economy the farmer is more important than ever.

By the Numbers

FDR topped the dollar price of gold one day by 21 cents. Henry Morgenthau's mammoth diary says he did it because 21 is a lucky number. It is in the game called "black-jack."

Who got black-jacked?

Morgenthau says it was the British. Others say it was the American consumer, who paid higher prices.

While we knew high finance was an involved subject, we thought the great decisions of the New Deal were decided by dreams rather than lucky numbers.

State Department Prods Situation at Dairen

By JAMES D. WHITE (Associated Press Staff Writer)

ANY TRADING nation could ask the Chinese and the Russians what the U. S. State department has asked them. That question is: When are you going to carry out your agreement to make Dairen a free port under Chinese administration with certain economic rights guaranteed to Russia?

American urging was behind this agreement in the first place, and the question is pertinent.

For one thing, some of the Chinese government's best troops have been on the outskirts of Dairen for several weeks, after defeating Chinese Communist forces farther north. There has been no official report of negotiations for them to take over the city, although there has been unofficial speculation that it might be in progress.

For another thing, the international stand-off at Dairen recently fostered an incident which embarrassed everyone concerned—when a Soviet port official refused to allow three American civilians to land from an American naval vessel and set a time limit for the ship to clear out.

That's an effect. The American note gets down to causes. Toward the end it says:

"This government also wishes to express the hope that agreement can be reached soon for the resumption of traffic on the Chinese Changchun railway."

The railway is a sore point. The Russians are guaranteed access to Dairen over this railway. They have not had this access, and are likely to cite this as one of their reasons for doing nothing about Dairen. The railway has been wrecked during fighting between Chinese government and Communist troops.

The Chinese are likely to say that one reason they have been fighting Communists along this railway is that the Communists got hold of a lot of former Japanese arms during the period of Soviet occupation.

There are other sore points, concerning not only China and Russia. One crops up in the view one gets from some Americans—that U. S. military influence in China continues in various forms in order to balance Chinese Communism and Russian influence in Dairen and Manchuria.

By the same token, some Americans also have felt that one reason the Russians have hung on grimly and silently to Dairen might be this same American military influence in China.

This is stand-off stuff too. It is stuff that the Chinese—both government and Communist—might very well put to their own purposes in seeking (unofficially enough) help and moral support from both the USSR and the U. S. A.

In other words, the note on Dairen is likely to get results in proportion to:—How good or how bad Russo-American relations in the Far East actually are, and —What role the Chinese have felt it necessary to play in the middle of the power struggle.

Only a Woman Knows Another?

To the Editor: The best way to end most divorces would be to have only women judges for divorce cases as they don't sympathize with their own sex. When a wife complains, "My husband slapped me," a woman judge would ask, "Did you have it coming to you?"

Some of the greatest insults to justice have been dealt out by male judges. A wife hauled her husband into court. She is awarded the home and a nice income each month and then makes a "love nest" of the house her husband worked hard to pay for.

Why doesn't someone invent a zipper for a nagging wife?

Republicans Differ With Truman Plans For New Statutes

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The following story by Jack Bell, AP political reporter and head of the AP Senate staff, compares and contrasts the Truman legislative program with Republican proposals.

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (P)—Here is a comparison of the major parts of the program outlined by President Truman today with Republican proposals:

LABOR:

TRUMAN—Proposed ban on jurisdictional strikes and "unjustified" secondary boycotts, arbitration of disputes over interpretation of contracts, and commission to report by March 15 on any other necessary legislation.

REPUBLICANS—Senate group offers bill creating mediation board with power to delay strikes 60 days, requiring union financial reports, banning jurisdictional strikes, eliminating foremen's unions, and broadening the right to sue unions on contracts. Promises action later on bills to change the Wagner act and outlaw the closed shop.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS:

TRUMAN—Asked Senate to ratify treaties with Italy, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary as the best "we can hope to obtain."

REPUBLICANS—Indicate general approval of treaties, following lead of Senator Vandenberg (Mich.).

MILITARY:

TRUMAN—Called for universal training and unification of armed services, but said continuation of draft still under study.

REPUBLICANS—No party policy but they gave most applause when Mr. Truman said "we must not again allow our weakness to invite attack."

TAXES:

TRUMAN—Urged continuation of war excise tax rates through June 30, 1948.

REPUBLICANS—House group plans 20 percent income tax reduction and urges cutting back some excises now instead of waiting until next June 30 when automatic reductions are due.

HOUSING:

TRUMAN—Urged "comprehensive" legislation similar to Wagner-Elender-Taft measure which died in House the past year.

REPUBLICANS—No formal program, but Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of House banking committee says he favors all portions of Wagner-Elender-Taft bill, wants "no socialization of housing."

HEALTH WELFARE:

TRUMAN—Recommended medical program based on payments made by beneficiaries; urged Cabinet department of welfare.

REPUBLICANS—Senate group preparing bill for Federal aid to states, based on voluntary contributions, for medical care and hospitalization.

CIVIL RIGHTS:

TRUMAN—Appointed commission to study question since he was "not convinced that present legislation reaches the limit of Federal power to protect the civil rights of its citizens."

REPUBLICANS—Senate group studying anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and FEPC legislation.

DISPLACED PERSONS:

TRUMAN—Asked Congress to "find ways whereby we can fulfill our responsibility to these thousands of homeless and suffering refugees."

REPUBLICANS—Senate group's report admonishes Congress to go slow in making any changes in immigration laws.

HOUSING:

TRUMAN—Urged "comprehensive" legislation similar to Wagner-Elender-Taft measure which died in House the past year.

REPUBLICANS—No formal program, but Chairman Vandenberg (R-Mich.) of House banking committee says he favors all portions of Wagner-Elender-Taft bill, wants "no socialization of housing."

HEALTH WELFARE:

TRUMAN—Recommended medical program based on payments made by beneficiaries; urged Cabinet department of welfare.

REPUBLICANS—Senate group preparing bill for Federal aid to states, based on voluntary contributions, for medical care and hospitalization.

CIVIL RIGHTS:

TRUMAN—Appointed commission to study question since he was "not convinced that present legislation reaches the limit of Federal power to protect the civil rights of its citizens."

REPUBLICANS—Senate group studying anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and FEPC legislation.

DISPLACED PERSONS:

TRUMAN—Asked Congress to "find ways whereby we can fulfill our responsibility to these thousands of homeless and suffering refugees."

REPUBLICANS—Senate group's report admonishes Congress to go slow in making any changes in immigration laws.

Editor, The Mercury, Dear Sir: N. Brother:

Wal, there's a lot of folks in this vicinity you can't convince that Santa Claus isn't a magician. Several got white shirts for Christmas!

All the reports seem to be in, so I can safely say New Year's Eve passed virtually unnoticed in Pottstown. There was only one night club fight.

And say: Barbers are advised to study psychology. Gosh, that would just give them another subject to talk about!

Heppin' you all the same.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. RUDESEN, M. D.

IT IS difficult for the person who speaks easily and smoothly even to imagine the sufferings of the million and one-half men, women and children in the United States who are afflicted with stuttering.

Speech is a normal human faculty and ordinarily words, formed in the mind, flow freely and almost automatically from the lips. But when those who stutter attempt to speak, we see what a complex process utterance is. There seems to be a spasm in the vocal cords trouble in breathing, tremblor of the tongue and lips together with visible contractions of the muscles of the face, neck and shoulders. Sometimes during the attempt to speak, breath is drawn in instead of being blown out.

We still have much to learn about the causes of stuttering. Many answers have been given but most of them remain mere theories without the actual proof needed to support them. As for instance, the belief, once held, that stuttering might be due to some shortcoming in the organs of speech or to some injury to the brain.

It does seem evident, however, that stuttering is connected with some disturbance of the nervous system. Sometimes stuttering may be brought on by an accident or a severe shock. Children who have been separated from their parents and are thus emotionally disturbed may begin to stutter. If the home surroundings are filled with excitement and emotional tension the children may develop stuttering.

Stuttering is not just a bad habit which can be overcome by speech training and exercise. Rather, it is an indication of disturbed emotions which need adjustment. It is interesting that there are from three to eight times as much stuttering among men as among women. Just why this is so has not been found out.

In treating actual stuttering, building up the patient's general health and avoiding physical and mental strain are important. Some actual speech training is also of value. It is helpful to teach the patient to relax all of the muscles of the body. However, the most important part of the treatment is to correct the emotional instability. It may be necessary to change the patient's environment, to find outlets for developing the good points of his character and to change his social contacts. It is possible, with proper treatment, to cure stuttering completely.

Nothing is useless to the man of sense; he turns everything to account.
—La Fontaine.

These People on Farms

THE CITIES have taken people from the country in increasing numbers. Today only 18 percent of the population of the United States lives on farms. In 1930 the percentage was 25. A century ago the majority of Americans engaged in farming.

So, in a way, it's lucky for those who left the country—either personally or via ancestors—that prices for farm products have been high enough to keep 25,190,000 people on the soil.

During the war they supplied the food not only for military and civilian America, but huge quantities for our allies overseas. They raised more wheat and corn and other crops than the United States ever produced before, and they did it with fewer hired men and with depleted soil.

That farm production was, fundamentally, the most important defense measure of all. Without it, all else would have failed.

Just what sort of people are those who are left on farms?

In one sense they have become more a type than ever before, because now they may be said to have chosen farming. Even if they were born on farms, they could have departed to well paid jobs elsewhere. Those who are left have pretty definite reasons and qualifications for staying.

1. They are good businessmen, for one thing.

They have to be to keep their accounts, take advantage of the markets, arrange financing. They have good-sized investments in their land, stock, machinery and buildings.

2. They are hard workers. Although the 5 a.m.-to-9 p.m. schedule is a thing of the past on most places, farmers put in longer hours of harder work than the usual worker elsewhere. National studies show they work 65 hours a week, compared to about 40 in manufacturing industries.

3. They are independent-minded. Their parent conservatism is based on a determination not to accept an innovation until they can see its worth demonstrated. It may be only a fad. And despite the whims of weather, insects and markets, they pretty much boss their own existence.

4. They are co-operative. They are ready to help a neighbor or serve on a community project. They have built up the nation's strongest co-operative marketing associations.

But above all that—and this possibility is the strongest factor in keeping them on the farm—is a sort of religion of the land.

The true farmer, for all his tactfulness, gets great pleasure from walking in the mellow, humus-laden earth after plowing.

He is a strong practitioner of soil conservation, once he has learned its meaning.

He likes to cock his ear for the sound of corn unfurling in its rapid summer growth.

He likes to rest his eyes on the green meadows, on the clean fields resting after harvest.

He has a kinship with his surroundings such as other workers seldom know.

Happily for the nation, which can't afford to be without a healthy agriculture, this faith in the land is gaining converts among the youth. 4-H clubs and similar organizations are revealing all the fascination which up-to-date farm life can hold. Such definite projects as a calf which a girl cap call her own, an acre of prize corn for a lad build an understanding of the best in agriculture and strengthen an interest which often will last for life.

Farming has been good to the farmers these past several years. It will not be so good in 1947, the bureau of agricultural economics forecasts. While farmers do not have to be pampered by the rest of the nation, they do have to make ends meet.

It is true that a prosperous agriculture depends upon prosperous workers who can eat well. But it is even more fundamental that the nation stays alive by the fruits of the farm. In our inter-dependent economy the farmer is more important than ever.

By the Numbers

FDR upped the dollar price of gold one day by 21 cents. Henry Morgenthau's mammoth diary says he did it because 21 is a lucky number. It is in the game called "black-jack."

Who got blackjacked? Morgenthau says it was the British. Others say it was the American consumer, who paid higher prices.

While we knew high finance was an involved subject, we thought the great decisions of the New Deal were decided by dreams rather than lucky numbers.

Ex-Convict Accused Of Kidnap Charge By Co-Ed's Mother

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 6 (P)—Mrs. Emerson Kimberly today filed an affidavit accusing Robert H. Hemming, 42-year-old ex-convict of kidnapping her daughter, Mary Virginia, Ohio State university co-ed, whose disappearance the past week caused a nation-wide search.

Hemming, held in county jail on a charge of issuing checks with insufficient funds, has denied kidnapping the 20-year-old daughter of an Ohio State university professor.

The charge was filed in the court of suburban Upper Arlington Mayor C. Forrest Tefft after County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett questioned Miss Kimberly and Hemming on circumstances surrounding their disappearance New Year's day.

Bartlett said Miss Kimberly reiterated that she had been drugged and that she recalled taking "only one drink, a highball" at a downtown hotel here.

The prosecutor quoted Hemming as denying he had drugged the Auburn-named co-ed.

Miss Kimberly returned home from Cleveland and Hemming was arrested there Thursday after he had escorted her to a train.

"We just got drunk and took off," the ex-convict explained to officers upon his return here.

A native of Columbus, Hemming has been visiting his parents and a daughter, Sara, friend of Miss Kimberly.

AFL Leader Believes Public Should Back Truman Program, Cites Labor's Woes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (P)—AFL President William Green said tonight that the objectives outlined in President Truman's message to Congress "should be endorsed by all the American people."

Green's statement added, however, that "two big questions" confront organized labor.

"The first is whether Congress will see fit to enact it as it stands and as a whole, or whether the lawmakers will reject the constructive recommendations and limit their actions to the passage of restrictive legislation, perhaps far more sweeping than the President suggests."

"The second question is just how far the President intends to carry the fight for his program as a whole."

"These matters must be given due weight before the trade union movement can make any final commitment."

CIO President Philip Murray, in New York, had no immediate comment. Nor did John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Green agreed that "the need for a greater measure of industrial peace is unquestioned."

He said that as the President stated, "Industrial peace cannot be achieved merely by laws directed against labor unions." Nor can it be achieved, Green said, if "our general democratic freedoms" are endangered by "punitive legislation."

"In emphasizing these fundamental principles, the President has shown real statesmanship and has rendered the nation a great service," Green said. "Hasty and ill-considered action by Congress in a spirit of revenge will accomplish more harm than good."

Green said the recommendations would be placed before the AFL Executive Council Jan. 29 in Miami for determination of the AFL's future policy.

He said the organization shared Mr. Truman's view "that jurisdictional strikes are indefensible and his insistence that such disputes be settled by peaceful means."

"Whether prohibitory legislation is the answer to this problem is a question which will require further study. The same is true with respect to the recommendations on secondary boycotts and compulsory arbitration of disputes arising from differing interpretations of existing collective bargaining contracts."

Iceland has had a democratic government for more than 1000 years.

County Employees Get Salary Boosts

By Staff Correspondent

NORRISTOWN, Jan. 6—A salary increase for approximately 200 employees of Montgomery county was announced today by Foster C. Hillgass, president of the Board of County Commissioners. The raise is retroactive to Jan. 1.

All workers now receiving $2300 a year or less will be given $160 annually and those getting $2301 or more are boosted $120.

Per diem employees, including some courthouse janitors and clerks, were increased from $17.5 a day to $22.5.

Variable hourly rates paid workers of the county highway department were increased an average of eight and one-half percent. They also were voted five cents an hour bonus for snow removal and spreading cinders.

Although the increases are only for employees who come directly under the county commissioners, their action today usually establishes the precedent for other department heads to follow.

Salaries of other county employees will be set at future meetings of the salary board.

The commissioners today also announced the transfer of William Bertram, Pottstown, from per diem to $2000 a year.

It also is reported that the pay of court trustees is to be increased from $5 to $7 a day.

Used Auto Prices Take Sharp Drop; Many Dealers Predict Further Decreases

By The Associated Press

That sootied darling of the war and postwar years—the used car—has suddenly slipped from earlier towering prices by from 10 to 30 percent in most sections of the nation, and many dealers agree that further declines are in the offing.

One of Boston's largest dealers in used cars predicted that "prices will be down 20 to 40 percent from recent peaks within 30 to 90 day."

In a cross-nation survey yesterday by the Associated Press, most dealers reported the biggest decline in the past month was in prices of slightly used 1946 models, which have dropped by from $300 to $1000.

In this they saw at least a start toward a "batter's market." Some regarded it as a "stop" sign on how high factory prices could go without cutting off a sizeable part of the market.

The sharp drop in the demand for "just anything that'll run" was ascribed to several causes.

A Los Angeles dealer said "People don't come in with rolls of bills any more."

"People can't go the prices," said Bert Baker, Detroit dealer. "Before the public was taking them away, now you have to go out and sell them."

A Philadelphia dealer said, "The public is sitting it out," and Henry Nartorena in San Francisco expected a gradual drop corresponding to increase production.

Washington dealers, however, reported sales falling off considerably, while others wait for newer models, but predicted "no drastic decrease in prices on used cars at present."

Atlanta and New Orleans dealers agreed prices were likely to go lower in the latter part of the year as new car production steps up.

Here is the current used car situation in brief in a number of key points:

NEW YORK—10 to 25 percent decline, with jalopies off 50 percent or more.

CHICAGO—Generally 15 percent under the peak.

DETROIT—"Considerable drop, especially on 1946 models."

PHILADELPHIA—25 percent decline "across the boards" and few takers.

WASHINGTON—No drastic decrease, but old models lower.

ATLANTA—15 to 18 percent drop.

NEW ORLEANS—Most models $150 to $300 lower.

BOSTON—10 to 30 percent from top.

KANSAS CITY—Down $150 to $300, 1941 models holding up best.

LOS ANGELES—Light cars off 10 percent, heavier cars more.

DALLAS—Old model large cars off one-third; light cars off $300.

DENVER—Old cars off 25 percent, later models 10 percent.

SAN FRANCISCO—$200 under black market peaks, but $200 to $400 above former ceilings.

The situation in the "1946 used car" field was described by one source as due to about a fourth of the 1946 factory production being syphoned off almost at once by offers of from $300 to $2000 more than factory list prices.

The sharp cut in the premiums over factory list prices, was shown in these reports of prices:

New York found 1946 used cars 25 percent off in the past month.

Kansas City reported 1946 Fords that brought $2250 were now sold at $1950. In Philadelphia the price dropped from $1900 to $1500, in Detroit from $2200 to $1850. Philadelphia reported a Chevrolet 1946 sedan that formerly brought $2100 now was cut to $1700.

Los Angeles reported 1946 De Sotos were marked down $300. Philadelphia quoted prices of a 1946 Buick super sedan at $2400, against its peak of $3000, and 1946 Cadillac sedans at $3500 to $4000 against a peak of $5000.

More Aid to War Vets Asked by Van Zandt

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (P)—A $500,000,000 Government corporation to assist war veterans was proposed today by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.).

The legislation, a revision of a measure sponsored the past year by Rep. Kearney (R-N.Y.), would create the Veterans Employment and National Economic Development Corporation. It would make loans to veterans "create business opportunities," help municipalities with self-liquidating projects of benefits to veterans, and purchase surplus war materials for resale.

The corporation also would guarantee loans to veterans by private banks.

NEWARK, O., Jan. 6 (P)—Laura Belle DeWitt, 72, a mouse-like little woman who collected old lace, submitted with mild protest to jail routine today as she awaited grand jury action on her statement to police that she had strangled her husband to death.

The sweet-mannered Newark housewife who told police she killed her husband, Thomas, 75, then dismembered his body with a handsaw and scattered the parts in the backyard of their home, protested but twice.

That was when Police Sergeant Joseph Campbell attempted to fingerprint her and again when he tried to photograph her for the records.

"That ink will make my hands dirty," Mrs. DeWitt told Campbell. But once he explained that every person taken into custody submitted to fingerprinting, she smiled slyly and offered her hand.

"Please don't press down too hard," she said once. "I broke a finger years ago and my hand still hurts."

When the task was done and the ink removed from her thin, delicate fingers she turned to the sergeant, saying: "Thank you, sir."

It was when she had been placed above the large police camera that she suddenly balked. Campbell asked her to remove the

Mrs. Patton Given Navy Award

Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal presents the Navy Distinguished Service Medal, awarded posthumously to the late Gen. George S. Patton, to Mrs. Patton at a ceremony at the Navy department in Washington. The general was cited for his services during the Sicilian landings and for advances from Palermo to Messina.

AFL Leader Believes Public Should Back Truman Program, Cites Labor's Woes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—AFL President William Green said tonight that the objectives outlined in President Truman's message to Congress "should be endorsed by all the American people."

Green's statement added, however, that "two big questions" confront organized labor.

"The first is whether Congress will see fit to enact it as it stands and as a whole, or whether the lawmakers will reject the constructive recommendations and limit their actions to the passage of restrictive legislation, perhaps far more sweeping than the President suggests."

"The second question is just how far the President intends to carry the fight for his program as a whole."

"These matters must be given due weight before the trade union movement can make any final commitment."

OIO President Philip Murray, in New York, had no immediate comment. Nor did John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Green agreed that "the need for a greater measure of industrial peace is unquestioned."

He said that as the President stated, "Industrial peace cannot be achieved merely by laws directed against labor unions." Nor can it be achieved, Green said, if "our general democratic freedoms" are endangered by "punitive legislation."

"In emphasizing these fundamental principles, the President has shown real statesmanship and has rendered the nation a great service," Green said. "Hasty and ill-considered action by Congress in a spirit of revenge will accomplish more harm than good."

Green said the recommendations would be placed before the AFL Executive Council Jan. 29 in Miami for determination of the AFL's future policy.

He said the organization shared Mr. Truman's view "that jurisdictional strikes are indefensible and his insistence that such disputes be settled by peaceful means."

"Whether prohibitory legislation is the answer to this problem is a question which will require further study. The same is true with respect to the recommendations on secondary boycotts and compulsory arbitration of disputes arising from differing interpretations of existing collective bargaining contracts."

Iceland has had a democratic government for more than 1000 years.

Salaries of other county employees will be set at future meetings of the salary board.

The commissioners today also announced the transfer of William Bierman, Pottstown, from per diem to $2000 a year.

It also is reported that the pay of court typists is to be increased from $5 to $7 a day.

Used Auto Prices Take Sharp Drop; Many Dealers Predict Further Decreases

By The Associated Press

That spoiled darling of the war and postwar years—the used car—has suddenly slipped from earlier towering prices by from 10 to 30 percent in most sections of the nation, and many dealers agree that further declines are in the offing.

One of Boston's largest dealers in used cars predicted that "prices will be down 20 to 40 percent from recent peaks within 30 to 90 day."

In a cross-nation survey yesterday by the Associated Press, most dealers reported the biggest decline in the past month was in prices of slightly used 1946 models, which have dropped by from $300 to $1000.

In this they saw at least a start toward a "buyer's market." Some regarded it as a "stop" sign on how high factory prices could go without cutting off a sizeable part of the market.

The sharp drop in the demand for "just anything that'll run" was ascribed to several causes.

A Los Angeles dealer said "People don't come in with rolls of bills any more."

"People's can't go the prices," said Bert Baker, Detroit dealer. "Before the public was taking them away; now you have to go out and sell them."

A Philadelphia dealer said, "The public is sitting it out," and Henry Naytorena in San Francisco expected a gradual drop corresponding to increase production.

Washington dealers, however, reported sales falling off considerably, while buyers wait for newer models, but predicted "no drastic decrease in prices on used cars at present."

Atlanta and New Orleans dealers agreed prices were likely to go lower in the latter part of the year as new car production steps up.

Here is the current used car situation in brief in a number of key points:

NEW YORK—10 to 25 percent decline, with "jalopies" off 50 percent or more.

CHICAGO—Generally 15 percent under the peak.

DETROIT—"Considerable drop, especially on 1946 models."

PHILADELPHIA—25 percent decline "across the boards" and few takers.

WASHINGTON—No drastic decrease, but old models lower.

ATLANTA—15 to 18 percent drop.

NEW ORLEANS—Most models $150 to $300 lower.

BOSTON—10 to 30 percent from top.

KANSAS CITY—Down $150 to $300; 1941 models holding up best.

LOS ANGELES—Light cars off 10 percent, heavier cars more.

DALLAS—Old model large cars off one-third; light cars off $300.

DENVER—Old cars off 25 percent; later models 10 percent.

SAN FRANCISCO—$200 under black market peaks, but $200 to $400 above former ceilings.

The situation in the "1946 used car" field was described by one source as due to about a fourth of the 1946 factory production being syphoned off almost at once by offers of from $500 to $2000 more than factory list prices.

The sharp cut in the premiums over factory list prices was shown in these reports of prices:

New York found 1946 used cars 25 percent off in the past month.

Kansas City reported 1946 Fords that brought $2250 were now sold at $1950. In Philadelphia the price dropped from $1900 to $1500, in Detroit from $2200 to $1850. Philadelphia reported a Chevrolet 1946 sedan that formerly brought $2100 now was cut to $1700.

Los Angeles reported 1946 De Sotos were marked down $300. Philadelphia quoted prices of a 1946 Buick super sedan at $2400, against its peak of $3000, and 1946 Cadillac sedans at $3500 to $4000, against a peak of $5000.

More Aid to War Vets Asked by Van Zandt WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A $500,000,000 Government corporation to assist war veterans was proposed today by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.).

The legislation, a revision of a measure sponsored the past year by Rep. Kearney (R-N.Y.), would create the Veterans Employment and National Economic Development Corporation. It would make loans to veterans, "create business opportunities," help municipalities with self-liquidating projects of benefit to veterans, and purchase surplus war materials for resale.

The corporation also would guarantee loans to veterans by private banks.

Five Cars Damaged In Accident Near Reading Station

Five cars were damaged at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Reading Concourse in a crash in which three of the vehicles were parked. No one was injured.

A car owned by Stanley Monroe, of 523 Lincoln avenue, and operated by Clarence Weidner, of the same address, was proceeding eastward on the concourse and struck the left side of a taxicab of the City Car company, operated by Guy Galloway Sixth and Belmont streets.

The taxicab, according to Patrolman Paul Bridgman who investigated, was thrown to the side of the roadway and struck three parked cars. The parked automobiles are owned by John R. Lomb, Green Ridge, Delaware county; J. W. Patton, 1329 South street, and Percy C. Nyman, Chester Springs RD 1.

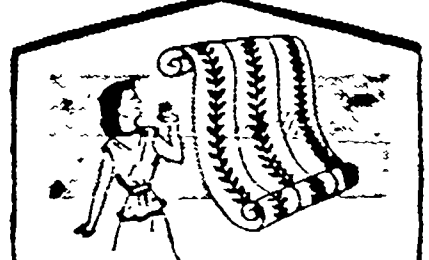

The Weidner car had the front badly damaged. The other machines received damaged fenders and bumpers.

Dr. M. Doris Gallman, Reading, suffered a possible skull fracture and a dislocated jaw in an automobile accident early yesterday morning.

An accident occurred shortly before 2 o'clock on Baumtown Hill when a sedan driving down the hill skidded in front of a coupe driving up.

Dr. Gallman was a passenger in a car driven by Douglas Palm, Reading, which collided with a car driven by Frank Dearden, Phoenixville.

A passing motorist, who tried to summon help, had to drive into Pottstown to notify the Good Will Ambulance company. When the driver arrived with the ambulance, Dr. Gallman already had been taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Reading, in another car.

The automobile industry turned out $1,600,000 worth of replacement parts in 1946 as compared with $718,000,000 worth in 1941.

Stone to Take Over Gavel of Kiwanis Club Tonight

Tonight is President's night at the Kiwanis club. Dr. Karl R. Stone, newly-elected president of the club, will take up the gavel for the coming year, when the group convenes at 6:15 o'clock at the Elks' home.

Dr. Stone, in accepting the position as president, will address the assembled members on "Kiwanis Activity."

Cafeteria Plans Made for School

Further plans for installing equipment to put out a daily hot lunch for the pupils of South Coventry High school were discussed last night at a meeting of the school board.

Before the program can be fully launched, the State must approve plans for dispensing the lunches and the equipment itself. After this, it will release funds to help the school incorporate the plant into its facilities.

A committee of PTA members and directors of the school has been appointed to look for kitchen equipment.

It was announced that half the school would be physically examined this year by Dr. Harry T. Smith, of Knaustown. Grades to be examined will be the first, third, fifth and seventh. It will be done in the health room of Warwick school.

The resignation of non-member Frank Fehring, secretary for the past year, was accepted and George A. Widman was named in his place. Weidman is a member of the board at present.

The principal of the school, R. Elwood Potts, was present at the meeting, which was attended by all five members of the board.

Supervisors Hold Reorganizations, Make 1947 Plans

With the advent of a New Year, many township supervisory groups within the area have taken steps to reorganize and make plans for 1947. A resume of such reorganization meetings follows:

The North Coventry supervisors met yesterday afternoon in their regular re-organization meeting. All officers were re-elected. William Evans was re-elected president and Harry Vocum was reappointed secretary-treasurer.

Yocum said last night that the township's budget would be discussed sometime before March. He also said that no identification of a raise in taxes may be noted at this time.

Citizens of Lower Pottsgrove were reassured last night by Clarence H. Hays, recording secretary of the supervisors, that no raise in taxes is in the offing. His statement followed a re-organization meeting during which township auditors revealed a balance of $5511 in the township treasury.

All officers were re-elected: John Schaeffer, president; Stuart Meloy, secretary-treasurer; and P. Fry said that a new budget will not be discussed for at least another two or three weeks.

The South Coventry supervisors met tonight, at which time they will elect a chairman, a roadmaster and a secretary.

The Warwick township supervisors met last Friday night and re-elected Hunter Carl, president; B. Frank Milns, secretary-treasurer; and Joseph L. Newcomer, supervisor to continue a six year term.

Milns announced last night that the budget would be discussed sometime later in the month, and that the tax rate would be the topic of a meeting in March.

The Upper Pottsgrove Road supervisors met with the township auditors last night. The auditors set the salary of supervisors at 70 cents an hour, and of laborers at 65 cents an hour. This is a 10 cent increase all around.

The supervisors elected George Neuhammer, president; John Prout, secretary-treasurer and Fred Gebel, roadmaster.

Sax Quartet to Play For Lions Club Tonight

A saxophone quartet will highlight the meeting of the Lions club at 6:30 o'clock tonight. They will be accompanied by a woman pianist and will play all forms of music, from classical to swing.

The meeting will take place in the Elks' home and will be followed by a meeting of the program committee.

Greek Leftist Approves Proposed British Policy

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A Foreign Office statement said today an all-party parliamentary report urging that Britain adopt an entirely new policy toward Greece was being "studied with care," but otherwise there was no comment from government officials.

Expressions of approval, however, came from a Greek Leftist representative in London, the liberal Manchester Guardian, and the Communist Daily Worker.

The report recommended early withdrawal of British troops from Greece, guarantee of the country's frontiers and formation of an all-party government with new elections.

Theodore Droganis, London correspondent for the EAM press, organ of the Greek Leftist coalition, termed the recommendations "a basis for the restoration of law, order and democracy in Greece."

GEN. CLAY —

ton also announced that Gen. Mark W. Clark was called home from Austria.

Clark, wartime commander of the U. S. 5th Army in the Italian campaign and subsequently commander-in-chief of American occupation forces in Austria, will take over command of the U. S. 6th Army with headquarters in San Francisco.

This command has been vacant since the death of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

Clark was not expected to take over his new post, until after the Moscow talks on the Austrian peace treaty. He will serve as deputy for Secretary of State Byrnes at the Moscow discussions, which begin in March.

Clark will be succeeded in Austria by Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, now commander of the U. S. 3d Army in Germany.

In his new assignment McMarney succeeds Lt. Gen. Harold L. George, whose retirement from active service was announced recently.

Several hours before a Washington announcement of his appointment, Clark held a news conference in his capacity as deputy military governor. He disclosed that:

1. The industrial output in the U. S. zone had been cut at least 25 percent because of a sub-zero cold wave and griping in this battered and fuel-starved country.
2. The U. S. State department had informed him that the French action in establishing a customs frontier around the coal-rich Saar would be threshed out at the March meeting of the Foreign Ministers council in Moscow. He said he had received no reply from the French to his query about whether German machinery from elsewhere in the French occupation zone was being moved into the Saar.
3. The United States is advocating a moratorium on all foreign investments in Germany, until the German economy becomes stabilized.
4. German handling of the denazification program has improved to such an extent that the U. S. is withdrawing its threat to take over the job.

They Swallow Their Troubles

TRUMAN MESSAGE —

30 under the proclamation which ended hostilities Dec. 31.

The President read his address from a loose-leaf notebook to the senators, representatives and cabinet members crowded into the House chamber.

His wife and daughter watched from the crowded gallery. He was cheered for two minutes when he entered at 2 p. m., and applauded as he bowed out 51 minutes later.

The President denounced jurisdictional strikes as "un-American" and urged that they be "justified," but emphasized that "not all secondary boycotts are unjustified."

He used similar language vetoing the Case bill last June. That measure would have outlawed these practices by subjecting unions to the anti-trust laws, and the President opposed that method.

The Chief Executive used the labor section of his message to declare the need for social legislation—"The extension and broadening of our social security system, better housing, a comprehensive national health program, and provision for far minimum wage."

On housing, he said that a law like the Wagner-Steagall-Taft bill, which passed the Senate last session but died in the House "is urgently required."

"At a minimum," he continued, it should provide for rebuilding "blighted areas," incentives for private capital to invest "billions" in big rental housing projects and construction of 500,000 units of low-rent public housing in four years.

On two issues—civil rights legislation and universal training—the President has commissions at work studying the problems. He mentioned this, and indicated recommendations on these subjects will be forthcoming after they report.

Thus, on the problem of civil rights, he omitted any mention of a fair employment practices commission, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation.

But he reminded Congress that "we have recently witnessed in this country numerous attacks upon the constitutional rights of individual citizens as a result of racial and religious bigotry. Substantial segments of our people have been prevented from exercising fully their right to participate in the election of public officials, both locally and nationally."

Of universal military training, he said he expects the recommendations of his commission, due in March, "will be of benefit to the Congress and to me in reaching decisions on this problem."

Unification of the Army and Navy in a single department, another short subject was treated in one paragraph emphasizing the economy angle. The President said he will send a separate message to Congress on the subject "in the near future."

As for the future of the draft act, due to expire March 31, Mr. Truman reported that the Army cannot tell yet whether it can get along on voluntary enlistments but will make its recommendations before the deadline.

"The responsibility for maintaining our armed forces at the strength necessary for our national safety rests with the Congress," the President declared.

Caustic remarks of the current controversy over whether industry can afford to raise wages without boosting prices, and whether it should raise or lower prices if profits are high, the President added this:

"It is up to industry not only to hold the line on existing prices, but to make reductions whenever profits justify the action."

"It is up to labor to refrain from pressing for unjustified wage increases that will force increases in the price level."

Turning to the problems of veterans, the President said he believes "that our program of benefits for veterans is now complete," except for minor adjustments. This appeared significant in view of bills already introduced to pay a bonus, higher subsistence and training grants and other benefits.

In foreign affairs, the President reported that the peace treaties for Italy, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary will be submitted to the Senate for ratification after they are signed next month, an implied bid in advance for the Senate's approval. He conceded they are not "completely satisfactory" but insisted "that they are as good as we can hope to obtain."

MARTIN IMPRESSED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Senator Martin (R-Pa.) said today he was "very much impressed by the general objectives" of President Truman's state of the union message to Congress.

Five Cars Damaged In Accident Near Reading Station

Five cars were damaged at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the Reading Concourse in a crash in which three of the vehicles were parked. No one was injured.

A car owned by Stanley Monroe, of 533 Lincoln avenue, and operated by Clarence Weidner, of the same address, was proceeding eastward on the concourse and struck the left side of a taxicab of the City Cax company, operated by Guy Galloway Sixth and Belmont streets.

The taxicab, according to Patrolman Paul Bridgman who investigated, was thrown to the side of the roadway and struck three parked cars. The parked automobiles are owned by John R. Loub, Green Ridge, Delaware county; J. W. Patton, 1329 South street, and Percy C. Nyman, Chester Springs RD 1.

The Weidner car had the front badly damaged. The other machines received damaged fenders and bumpers.

Dr. M. Doris Gallman, Reading, suffered a possible skull fracture and a dislocated jaw in an automobile accident early yesterday morning.

The accident occurred shortly before 2 o'clock on Baumtown Hill when a sedan driving down the hill skidded in front of a coupe driving up.

Dr. Gallman was a passenger in a car driven by Douglas Palm, Reading, which collided with a car driven by Frank Dearden, Phoenixville.

A passing motorist, who tried to summon help, had to drive into Pottstown to notify the Good Will Ambulance company. When the driver arrived with the ambulance, Dr. Gallman already had been taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Reading, in another car.

The automobile industry turned out $1,600,000 worth of replacement parts in 1946 compared with $718,000,000 worth in 1941.

Stone to Take Over Gavel Of Kiwanis Club Tonight

Tonight is President's night at the Kiwanis club. Dr. Karl R. Stone, newly-elected president of the club, will take up the gavel for the coming year, when the group convenes at 6:15 o'clock at the Elks' home.

Dr. Stone, in accepting the position as president, will address the assembled members on "Kiwanis Activity."

Cafeteria Plans Made for School

Further plans for installing equipment to put out a daily hot lunch for the pupils South Coventry High school were discussed last night at a meeting of the school board.

Before the program can be fully launched, the State must approve plans for dispensing the lunches and the equipment itself. After this, it will release funds to help the school incorporate the plant into its facilities.

A committee of PTA members and directors of the school has been appointed to look for kitchen equipment.

It was announced that half the school would be physically examined this year by Dr. Harry T. Smith, of Knausertown. Grades to be examined will be the first, third, fifth and seventh. It will be done in the health room of Warwick school.

The resignation of non-member Frank Fahringer, secretary for the past year, was accepted and George A. Widman was named in his place. Widman is a member of the board at present.

The principal of the school, R. Elwood Potts, was present at the meeting, which was attended by all five members of the board.

Supervisors Hold Reorganizations, Make 1947 Plans

With the advent of a New Year, many township supervisory groups within the area have taken steps to reorganize and make plans for 1947. A resume of such reorganization meetings follows:

The North Coventry supervisors met yesterday afternoon in their regular re-organization meeting. All officers were re-elected. William Evans was re-elected president and Harry Yocum was reappointed secretary-treasurer.

Yocum said last night that the township's budget would be discussed sometime before March. He also said that no identification of a raise in taxes may be noted at this time.

Citizens of Lower Pottsgrove were reassured last night by Clarence H. Fry, recording secretary of the township supervisors, that no raise in taxes is in the offing. His statement followed a re-organization meeting during which township auditors revealed a balance of $5511 in the township treasury.

All officers were re-elected: John Scheifley, president; Stuart Meloy, secretary-treasurer; and Fry. Fry said that a new budget will not be discussed for at least another two or three weeks.

The South Coventry supervisors met last night, at which time they will elect a chairman, a roadmaster and a secretary.

The Warwick township supervisors met last Friday night and re-elected Hunter Carl president, B. Frank Mills, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph L. Newcomer, supervisor to continue a six year term.

Mills announced last night that the budget would be discussed sometime later in the month, and that the tax rate would be the topic of a meeting in March.

The Upper Pottsgrove Road supervisors met with the township auditors last night. The auditors set the salary of supervisors at 70 cents an hour, and of laborers at 65 cents an hour. This is a 10 cent increase all around.

The supervisors elected George Needham, president; John Prout, secretary-treasurer and Fred Gebel, roadmaster.

Sax Quartet to Play For Lions Club Tonight

A saxophone quartet will highlight the meeting of the Lions club at 6:30 o'clock tonight. They will be accompanied by a woman pianist and will play all forms of music, from classical to swing.

The meeting will take place in the Elks' home and will be followed by a meeting of the program committee.

Greek Leftist Approves Proposed British Policy

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—A Foreign Office statement said today an all-party parliamentary report urging that Britain adopt an entirely new policy toward Greece was being "studied with care," but otherwise there was no comment from government officials.

Expressions of approval, however, came from a Greek Leftist representative in London, the liberal Manchester Guardian and the Communist Daily Worker.

The report recommended early withdrawal of British troops from Greece, guarantee of the country's frontiers and formation of an all-party government with new elections.

Theodore Droganis, London correspondent for the EAM press, organ of the Greek Leftist coalition, termed the recommendations "a basis for the restoration of law, order and democracy in Greece."

GEN. CLAY —

ton also announced that Gen. Mark W. Clark was called home from Austria.

Clark, wartime commander of the U. S. 5th Army in the Italian campaign and subsequently commander-in-chief of American occupation forces in Austria, will take over command of the U. S. 6th Army with headquarters in San Francisco.

This command has been vacant since the death of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

Clark was not expected to take over his new post, until after the Moscow talks on the Austrian peace treaty. He will serve as deputy for Secretary of State Byrnes at the Moscow discussions, which begin in March.

Clark will be succeeded in Austria by Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, now commander of the U. S. 3d Army in Germany.

In his new assignment, McNamee succeeds Lt. Gen. Harold L. George whose retirement from active service was announced recently.

Several hours before a Washington announcement of his appointment Clay held a news conference in his capacity as deputy military governor. He disclosed that:

1. The industrial output in the U. S. zone had been cut at least 25 percent because of a sub-zero cold wave now gripping this battered and fuel-short country.

2. The U. S. State department had informed him that the French action in establishing a customs frontier around the coal-rich Saar would be threshed out at the March meeting of the Foreign Ministers council in Moscow. He said he had received no reply from the French to his query about whether German machinery from elsewhere in the French occupation zone was being moved into the Saar.

3. The United States is advocating a moratorium on all foreign investments in Germany, until the German economy becomes stabilized.

4. German handling of the de-nazification program has improved to such an extent that the U. S. is withdrawing its threat to take over the job.

They Swallow Their Troubles

TRUMAN MESSAGE —

30 under the proclamation which ended hostilities Dec. 31.

The President read his address from a loose-leaf notebook to the senators, representatives and cabinet members crowded into the House chamber.

His wife and daughter watched from the crowded gallery. He was cheered for two minutes when he entered at 1 p. m., and applauded as he bowed out 51 minutes later.

The President denounced jurisdictional strikes as "indefensible" and boycotts to further them "unjustifiable," but emphasized that "not all secondary boycotts are unjustified."

He used similar language vetoing the Case bill last June. That measure would have outlawed these practices by subjecting unions to the anti-trust laws, and the President opposed that method.

The Chief Executive used the labor section of his message to declare the need for social legislation—"The extension and broadening of our social security system, better housing, a comprehensive national health program, and provision for a fair minimum wage."

On housing, he said that a law like the Wagner-Elender-Taft bill which passed the Senate last session but died in the House "is urgently required."

"At a minimum," he continued, it should provide for rebuilding "blighted areas," incentives for private capital to invest "billions" in big rental housing projects and construction of 500,000 units of low-rent public housing in four years.

On two issues—civil rights legislation and universal training—the President has commissions at work studying the problems. He mentioned this, and indicated recommendations on these subjects will be forthcoming after they report.

Thus, on the problem of civil rights he omitted any mention of a fair employment practices commission, anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation.

But he reminded Congress that "we have recently witnessed in this country numerous attacks upon the constitutional rights of individual citizens as a result of racial and religious bigotry. Substantial segments of our people have been prevented from exercising fully their right to participate in the election of public officials, both locally and nationally."

Of universal military training, he said he expects the recommendations of his commission, due in March, "will be of benefit to the Congress and to me in reaching decisions on this problem."

Unification of the Army and Navy in a single department, another short subject, was treated in one paragraph emphasizing the economy angle. The President said he will send a separate message to Congress on the subject "in the near future."

As for the future of the draft act, due to expire March 31, Mr. Truman reported that the Army cannot tell yet whether it can get along on voluntary enlistments but will make its recommendations before the deadline.

"The responsibility for maintaining our armed forces at the strength necessary for our national safety rests with the Congress," the President declared.

Obviously mindful of the current controversy over whether industry can afford to raise wages without boosting prices, and whether it should raise or lower prices if profits are high, the President added this:

"It is up to industry not only to hold the line on existing prices, but to make reductions whenever profits justify the action."

"It is up to labor to refrain from pressing for unjustified wage increases that will force increases in the price level."

Turning to the problems of veterans, the President said he believes "that our program of benefits for veterans is now complete," except for minor adjustments. This appeared significant in view of bills already introduced to pay a bonus, higher subsistence and training grants and other benefits.

In foreign affairs, the President reported that the peace treaties for Italy, Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary will be submitted to the Senate for ratification after they are signed next month, an implied bid in advance for the Senate's approval. He conceded they are not "completely satisfactory" but insisted "that they are as good as we can hope to obtain."

MARTIN IMPRESSED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Senator Martin (R-Pa.) said today he was "very much impressed by the general objectives" of President Truman's state of the union message to Congress.

Off-Married Merry Fahrney Divorces
Carlos Ojeda, Son of Mexican Ambassador

Love Is Young

Youngest: GI once-to-be on record, Isabel Mary Burnell 15, of Reading, England, reaches New York aboard a Clipper, and phones former Sgt. Paul Sinclair, Youngstown, O., whom she will soon marry. Isabel was 13 when she first met Sinclair at a dance. When her mother approved the wedding, the youngster hopped a plane.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Daily News said off-married Merry Fahrney—Chicago patent medicine heiress—has divorced Carlos Ojeda, son of the Mexican Ambassador to Argentina.

The divorce terminated her sixth marriage.

The News says the heiress announced the Mexican divorce was granted three months ago and quotes her as saying her marriage to Ojeda "was only an arranged thing, a marriage for passport purposes."

After her fourth marriage ended in divorce in 1941, Merry sought a passport, so she could leave the country and wed Harold Von Stempel, one-time German Embassy Attaché at Washington. But the American State Department refused her traveling papers.

"So," the News says, "Right then Merry made her fifth venture, her first 'passport marriage'."

"For $1500," the paper continues, "a Swedish father, Nils Guri Holm, made her his bride and thus she got a Swedish passport."

But the passport didn't do Merry any good. The airline which was to take her to Germany and Von Stempel ceased operation because of the war. Later, she divorced Holm.

Applications for marriage licenses were made yesterday in Montgomery county courthouse, Norristown, by: Kenneth L. Miller, Elverson RD 1, and Edna V. Brandel, 245 Lincoln avenue.

Off-Married Merry Fahrney Divorces Carlos Ojeda, Son of Mexican Ambassador

Love Is Young

Youngest GI bride-to-be on record, Isabel Mary Butwell, 15, of Reading, England, reaches New York aboard a Clipper, and phones former Sgt. Paul Sinclair, Youngstown, O., whom she will soon marry. Isabel was 13 when she first met Sinclair at a dance. When her mother approved the wedding, the youngster hopped a plane.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (P)—The Daily News said off-married Merry Fahrney—Chicago patent medicine heiress—has divorced Carlos Ojeda, son of the Mexican Ambassador to Argentina.

The divorce terminated her sixth marriage.

The News says the heiress announced the Mexican divorce was granted three months ago and quotes her as saying her marriage to Ojeda "was only an arranged thing, a marriage for passport purposes."

After her fourth marriage ended in divorce in 1941, Merry sought a passport so she could leave this country and wed Herbert Von Strempel, one-time German Embassy Attaché at Washington. But the American State Department refused her traveling papers.

"So," the News says, "Right then Merry made her fifth venture, her first 'passport' marriage."

"For $1500," the paper continues, "A steakhouse waiter, Nils Curt Holm, made her his bride and thus she got a Swedish passport."

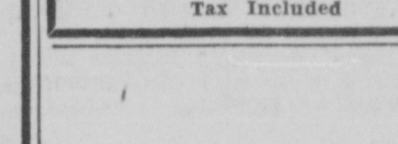

But the passport didn't do Merry any good. The airline which was to take her to Germany and Von Strempel ceased operation because of the war. Later, she divorced Holm.

TROJANS READY FOR NORRISTOWN

EAGLES SPORT STREAK OF 7 STRAIGHT WINS

Good's Charges Hope To Match Victory Won By Local Gridders

Hoping to find the victory trail after three straight setbacks, the Pottstown High school basketball quintet travels to meet Norristown. High's unbeaten five tonight in the county seat.

Coach Ed Good's charges will find the going plenty rough tonight with Norristown boasting a veteran five led by high scoring Carmine (Moe) Schiavo who has registered 92 points in seven games. The Eagles have won all seven.

On the other side of the ledger, Bobby Marx has also tallied 52 points in seven games and the Trojans have lost five of the seven.

Both boys are dropping 'em in at a clip just a little better than 13 points per game and tonight should prove a scoring duel between the two.

Cohi Lawson Earl's high flying birds will be out for revenge for a 34-0 trimming handed Norristown in the past football season.

Teaming with Schiavo at the guards for Norristown will be Harry Lobnitz with Dick DeWees at center. Twin brother Bob DeWees is slated for duty at one of the forwards with Doc Cuno.

For the Trojans, Elmer Dave Defar, Bobby Russell will line up opposite Marx at guards. Claude Reinhardt will be at center and Tom 'Munk' Weber and Stan Stolar will be at forwards.

Coach Bill McCabe's Baby Trojans meet the Norristown junior varsity in the preliminary tilt of the evening at 7 o'clock. McCabe will send into the contest, Danny Ludwig and George Rath at forwards, Howard Kinloch at center, Brother Varner and Don Ziegler will be at guards.

Walcott Wins Decision Over Joey Maxim

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6 (P) — Ageless Jersey Joe Walcott rode into the spot he's always wanted, leading challenger for the heavyweight title, by outpunching Joey Maxim of Cleveland, O., tonight in a slugfest 10-round bout at Convention Hall.

UAW, Levengood's Meet in Big Game

The Industrial Basketball League at the "Y" has a pair of struggles listed for tonight. Doehler's will meet Seeders' five in the opener at 7:30 o'clock with UAW 644 opposing Levengood's in the finale.

A victory by Seeders and Levengood's tonight would cause a three-way tie for first place between those two clubs and the Autoworkers.

Upper Montco Loop in Action; Boyertown, Spring City Play

The Upper Montco league swings into full scale operations tonight with three tilts listed. Pennsburg, with one victory and no losses, holds down first place in the loop, being one of two teams that have already played in league competition.

Defending champion, Roversford, opens the season against the Colonels at Pennsburg. Coach Bob McNeilly's charges will be seeking their third straight league title and have won the last 20 league games in a row.

Collegiateville, boasting a veteran ball club, travels to meet West Pottsgrove to meet Coach Ray Westbrook's combination in another league fracas.

West Pottsgrove, with only one letterman back, has high hopes for the coming league season and think they can upset the applicant for several of the more highly-regarded teams.

In the final league struggle of the evening, East Greenville goes to meet once-beaten Schwenksville. The Bluebirds dropped the opening league tilt to Pennsburg, 39-32 and want to get back in the win column.

All junior varsity games are scheduled for 7:15 o'clock.

BOYERTOWN PLAYS

Coach Bob Fleming's Boyertown Bears move into league competition, meeting Fleetwood. The game is slated to be played on the Boyertown court with the junior varsity conflict listed for 7 o'clock.

The Bears dropped a one point decision to Amity earlier in the season and have won one league contest. Hamoury leads the league with three wins and no defeats while Fleetwood also boasts a record of one and one.

SPRING CITY IN ACTION

The Spring City High school Pirates, a member of Section Six, will meet Phoenixville, a member of Section Three tonight at Phoenixville.

The Pirates will be opening the 1947 campaign tonight while Phoenixville has played several games already this year. The Phantoms will be favored but can expect to get plenty of opposition from the Spring City five. The first game of the night between the two junior varsity squads is slated for 7:15 o'clock.

Ruth in Satisfactory Condition After Serious Neck Operation; Doctor Predicts Quick Recovery

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (P) — Babe Ruth, baseball's most famous player, came through a serious two-hour neck operation in "Satisfactory" condition today and an hour after the surgery, Dr. Hippolyte Wertheim predicted a quick and complete recovery for the former home run king.

Dr. Wertheim, who performed the operation with three other physicians in attendance, said: "Ruth will probably recover quickly and completely."

Hospital attendants went further and said the big fellow would be able to walk in a day or so unless complications set in and that he probably would leave the hospital within two weeks, in time for his 32nd birthday Feb. 6.

Dr. Wertheim would not disclose the precise nature of the ailment but prior to the operation a hospital statement said that the one-time Sultan of Swat, whose 60-home run race for the New York Yankees in 1927 and $80,000 salary in 1930 and 1931 never have been equalled, would be operated on to relieve an intractable neck pain.

The Babe originally entered French Hospital Nov. 26 for treatment of a sinus infection.

The first report after the operation said: "Mr. Ruth was operated on at French Hospital at 11:00 a. m. today. One of the main arteries on the left side of his neck was ligated. Post operative condition satisfactory."

Medical authorities explained "ligated" as meaning that it had been necessary to tie an artery with a ligament.

In fact, the seriousness of the Babe's condition caught the sports world unprepared. Although he had been hospitalized since Nov. 26 for reasons variously designated as "observation" and a "sinus infection" there had been no public indication that an operation would be necessary.

In fact, the spindly-legged veteran of 22 major league campaigns and 10 World Series, was expected to have been discharged Dec. 15. His release was delayed because he had a severe headache and his personal physician said it was considered advisable that he remain in the hospital until the cause of the head pain was determined.

Although sparkling wines were known to antiquity, champagne was not perfected until 1670.

Autoworkers Win Over Scorpions as Doehler's Top Transfiguration

STANDINGS

UAW 644 moved to within a half game of first place in the City Basketball league last night by turning back the Scorpions, 35-23.

The game was played on the local junior high school court last night as the first game of a double-header. In the second game, Doehler's saved a full game behind UAW by downing Transfiguration AA by a 43-39 count.

The Autoworkers jumped into the lead shortly after the game got underway, but the Scorpions came back to make it close at the end of the quarter, 6-5. The second period was another close one but the UAW five managed to add two more points to its lead. The score at intermission was 14-11.

The third quarter was a different story and the winners started to pull away in fine fashion. UAW collected 10 counters in the third stanza while the losing Scorpions were held to two field goals and a foul.

The fourth and final bracket was the same thing with the Autoworkers increasing their lead as time went on. Eleven points were tallied in the last eight minutes by the UAW five while the Scorpions managed to score seven.

The second contest was close all the way through with Doehler's breaking loose in two periods to take the tussle.

The Diecasters took a five point lead in the first quarter, but the Transfiguration five made it 22-20 when intermission rolled around.

The third period told the story of the ball game with Doehler's quintet outscoring the losers, 12-10, to clinch the tilt. In the final bracket, Transfiguration matched the Diecasters point for point to keep the difference between the two teams at four points.

apartment of the murdered woman where he re-enacted the discovery of her body on the night of Dec. 8 for the police.

In his first statement to the police, Wentzel claimed he had touched the body of the slain woman when he made his gruesome discovery. Yesterday, police said he denied ever having touched the body and claimed to be fled from the house as soon as he saw her.

Wentzel was brought to the district attorney's office at 11:45 o'clock yesterday morning, and his wife arrived five minutes later. Police brought them to separate rooms and kept secret the knowledge of the others' presence.

Meanwhile, Detectives Rankin and John and Michael Kuroczko remained in the strangled divorcee's apartment. They carefully searched the rooms for further clues, and then rearranged the furniture as it was on the day of the murder. After photographing the apartment completely, they gathered the bedclothes, Mrs. Green's letters and personal papers, two throw-rugs from the apartment, and the iron grill from the window, and took them to Norristown.

The questioning of Wentzel and his wife was conducted by Scirica, Laughhead, Knight, and the State policemen alternately, and without respite. No time was taken for lunch, but authorities provided sandwiches and coffee for the pair. The grilling continued throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. Wentzel, upon her release was brought back to the office of the Rev. Krouse or Rankin. It is reported that she told him:

"I won't be able to sleep until Jerry comes home."

"Why, what do you mean," Rankin asked, "where is he?"

"You can't fool me with that," she is supposed to have replied, "I know you wouldn't have had me down there unless you had Jerry, too."

Observers in the courthouse who saw Wentzel late in the day said he appeared fresh and seemed to be bearing up under the quiz.

The government of the United States, while fully recognizing that this is a matter for direct negotiation between the Chinese and Soviet governments, feels that it has a responsibility to American interests in general to raise the question with the two directly interested governments.

"It hopes that the abnormal conditions now prevailing at Darien may be terminated at an early date and that normal conditions may be established which will permit American citizens to visit and reside at Darien in pursuit of their legitimate activities."

December Temperatures Were Highest In History, Weatherman's Report Shows

Along with the local strike and the high cost of living, December 1946 sported a tie for the highest percentage of sunshine on record for that month and the highest temperature for December since record books were opened.

According to the monthly report by C. S. Ling of the Reading Weather bureau, the monthly percentage of possible sunshine, 56 percent, tied the previous December record of greatest percentage established in 1943.

A maximum temperature of 71.3 degrees, observed with joy on the 10th of the month, ranks as the highest December maximum since the records were begun in 1898. Previous record of 68 degrees was established Dec. 1, 1927.

While the sun and the heat, chalked up records however, the usual products of December such as wind, rain and snow, were comparatively meek.

Whereas the record wind for this area in December was a 57 mile blow in 1912, December 1946 couldn't exhibit more than 12 hours of wind slightly over 30 miles an hour. As a matter of fact, according to Ling, only 54 hours of wind over 25 miles per hour were recorded.

The normal number of days for December in which a mere 0.1 inch or more of precipitation is evident is recorded at 11. But in our late lamented month only five days contained 0.1 inch or more precipitation, which made things pretty dry.

Only 1.9 inches of snow fell last month and that was all during the storm of Dec. 20. That mark seems quite puny compared to the year 1909 when one snow fall alone poured 20.3 inches of snow on Pottstown streets.

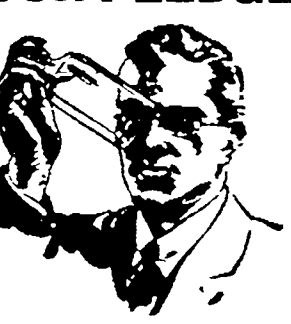

There are many other details in Ling's report. He points out that December 1946 had six perfectly clear days, nine partly cloudy and 16 cloudy. There were 158 total hours of sunshine this month.

The mean temperature for the month was 29.8 degrees as a result of marked variations in the daily temperatures. The variations were characterized by two periods with temperatures well above normal and three periods below normal.

Fog was light during 12 days moderate during two and heavy during one.

Reading Station Worker Suffers Leg Injury

Morris Brown, 56, of Reading, a veteran employee of the Reading company, was injured at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Pottstown freight station of the company. He suffered the fracture of his left knee cap and was taken to Pottstown hospital.

Brown, who has been an employee of the company for 30 years, was engaged yesterday afternoon in moving an electric water heater which weighs about 400 pounds. It was on a truck. Brown's foot slipped and he fell against a box, a handle of the truck striking him on the knee-cap.

CIO Textile Workers Receive Wage Boost

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (P) — Emil Riese, general president of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), said today a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour had been negotiated with three large companies, putting more than $3,000,000 additional a year into the pay envelopes of 29,000 woolen and worsted workers.

Riese said the increase would go to 20,000 employees in 20 mills of the American Woolen company in New England, New York and Kentucky, 3000 workers in the Botany Worsted mills, Passaic, N.J., and 4000 employees of the Forstmann Woolen company, Passaic.

SCHOOL BOARD —

July 1, 1947. This action was taken on a recommendation of Superintendent Frank M. Haist. The board members of the board of education have advocated the change. Haist said he is in favor of the change for the scarcity of teachers throughout the nation seems to be growing.

The new hearing system in the Senior High school is now functioning 65 percent of capacity and the contractor is rapidly completing the job.

According to the report of Tax Collector Thomas L. Ruerer, the amount of outstanding per capita tax of the 1946 school duplicate is $147.72 while the balance due on the real estate tax is $9486.48, the total due being $17,634.20.

The Rupert PTA sent the board members an invitation to attend its meeting on Thursday evening, Jan. 16, when an address will be made by Miss Martha Gabels of Philadelphia.

Report of Treasurer J. Leroy Johnson showed receipts for the past month of $18,874.37. Of this amount, $10,918.15 was a State appropriation. The balance in the Veterans' school fund is $10,000, and in the recreation commission treasury the balance is $1336.13.

Vice-president Elmer E. Saylor presided in the absence of President Larry Orgill. Present besides Saylor were: Robins, Mr. Glavie W. Weber, Johnson, and Holloway. Leonard Hiltwine was absent.

It is anticipated the borough will acquire $16,500 from the State as its share of the liquid fuel tax. All of this money has been allotted to the highway committee for street work.

The budget contains an appropriation of $5000 for the recreation program. In 1946 it totaled $3600. The allotment to the public library remains the same.

Sears pointed out that the interest and principal on indebtedness have been reduced $3000 from the preceding year.

It was indicated there will be an increase in wages for borough employees. The amount has not yet been definitely determined.

Council tonight will act on the third and final reading of the ordinance providing for the new sewer line on Glasgow street, the second reading of an ordinance for the sewer line on Willow street between Mt. Arrey and Wilson streets, and second reading of an ordinance changing an area in the Tenth ward from an R-1 zoning district to R-4.

Orchestra Leader Abandons Career To Do Engineering

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 6 (P) — There may be a question as to how far the big time orchestra business has "forgotten Emerson Gull, but there's no question about the vice versa.

Gull has abandoned the muse. He has left her for ever. He has given away his fiddle and all his music. At the time of the divorce, he even went so far as to dispose of his house — which shows just how serious he was.

Now, he is back to his first love—engineering. He is a sales engineer with the Gibbs corporation here, and big time band leading is a thing of the "Tip Toe Through the Tulips" time past.

It was back at Toledo, O. University where Gull was graduated in engineering, that he got sidetracked.

"Band leading was a sideline as far as I was concerned," he said. "It helped pay my way through college. I never had any musical ambitions."

But Gull and his band were persuaded to play ten weeks at Cleveland's Bamboo Gardens. Just ten weeks.

"That engagement led to another. The money kept coming in and well ... you know how those things happen."

The man who composed "Weary" and kept it as his theme song made the break or doing a bit of war work in engineering, taking a refresher course and then going with General Motor, as a project engineer.

From there on, he was Emerson Gull, engineer.

"Perhaps I do reminisce a little too much," he said, "but I can't have it both ways. I don't have to bother with that 'come now, with no spotlight shining on my gramophone'."

Blind Girl on Way To Obtaining Job Teaching Spanish

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 6 (P) — Blindness has not hindered the ambition of tall, brown-haired Doris Marie Carr, of Vancouver, Wash., to obtain a master's degree in Spanish and then a college teaching job.

The 21-year-old student at Stanford university has been blind since she was six years old, when a playmate hit her in the eye with a stick.

Yet she completed her high school work at the Missouri School for the Blind by leading her class. She was the first blind student to enter Central Missouri State college where she was graduated fourth in a class of 70 last May.

Now she holds two scholarships at Stanford university, where she is working for a master's degree in Spanish.

Miss Carr takes class notes in Braille and handles written examinations by bringing a portable typewriter to class. She types the answers swiftly after the questions are read to her.

She carries a white cane — "indignantly," she says — because "sightless" authorities feel the heavy traffic on the campus makes it necessary for her safety.

She learned to play the piano when she was nine years old. She enjoys swimming and hiking.

She laughs when she says she has trouble finding boys tall enough to dance with her — she is 5 feet 10 inches.

Miss Carr plans to teach in Costa Rica, where she has friends, then return to college and work for a Ph.D. and a college teaching job.

Famed American Flier Now Takes to Digging

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 6 (P) — Whether it is 16,000 feet in the air or 16,000 feet under the earth's surface, versatile Howard Hughes will get there.

A product of the Hughes Tool company, of which Hughes is president, the drill has opened up new oil reservoirs located below formerly unpenetrable hard rock formations.

Sheriff Asks Skunk to Leave; It Does

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 6 (P) — Deputy Sheriff M. J. Vasseur was called to the home of Mrs. Olive Dennis to evict a skunk which had set up a squatter's claim on a clothes closet.

Figuring that was no place to annoy the animal, Vasseur-ajoiled "nice skunkie, come on out." To his surprise, the skunk did just that but immediately trotted under a bed. Vasseur waved a broom at the creature, very gently, and the interloper turned tail and fled through an open door. No runs, not his, no errors.

Now, he is back to his first love—engineering. He is a sales engineer with the Gibbs corporation here, and big time band leading is a thing of the "Tip Toe Through the Tulips" time past.

It was back at Toledo, O. University, where Gill was graduated in engineering, that he got sidetracked.

"Band leading was a sideline as far as I was concerned," he said. "It helped pay my way through college. I never had any musical ambitions."

But Gill and his band were persuaded to play ten weeks at Cleveland's Bamboo Gardens. Just ten weeks.

"That engagement led to another. The money kept coming in and well . . . you know how those things happen."

The man who composed "Weary" and kept it as his theme song made the break by doing a bit of war work in engineering, taking a refresher course and then going with General Motors as a project engineer.

From there on, he was Emerson Gill, engineer.

"Perhaps I do reminisce a little too much," he said, but—patting his partially bald head—"I don't have to bother with that toupee now, with no spotlight shining on my cranium."

which should be applied to debt retirement.

"One of these recommendations is that the Congress take early action to continue throughout the next fiscal year the war excise rates, which, under the present law, will expire on June 30, 1947."

Chairman Taber (R-N.Y.) of the House appropriations committee commented:

"Some people do not seem to realize that if we do not have tax relief, we are going to stifle business."

Blind Girl on Way To Obtaining Job Teaching Spanish

PALO ALTO, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP) — Blindness has not hindered the ambition of tall, brown-haired Doris Marie Carr, of Vancouver, Wash., to obtain a master's degree in Spanish and then a college teaching job.

The 21-year-old student at Stanford university has been blind since she was six years old, when a playmate hit her in the eye with a stick.

Yet she completed her high school work at the Missouri School for the Blind by leading her class. She was the first blind student to enter Central Missouri State college where she was graduated fourth in a class of 70 last May.

Now she holds two scholarships at Stanford university, where she is working for a master's degree in Spanish.

Miss Carr takes class notes in Braille and handles written examinations by bringing a portable typewriter to class. She types the answers swiftly after the questions are read to her.

She carries a white cane — "indignantly," she says — because university authorities feel the heavy traffic on the campus makes it necessary for her safety.

She learned to play the piano when she was nine years old. She enjoys swimming and hiking.

She laughs when she says she has trouble finding boys tall enough to dance with her — she is 5 feet 10 inches.

Miss Carr plans to teach in Costa Rica, where she has friends, then return to college and work for a Ph. D. and a college teaching job.

Famed American Flier Now Takes to Digging

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 6 (AP) — Whether its 16,000 feet in the air or 16,000 feet under the earth's surface, versatile Howard Hughes will get there.

The famed flier, who has established speed and distance marks in the skies, has now seen another of his products — the rock bit drill — penetrate more than 16,000 feet into the Texas earth.

A product of the Hughes Tool company, of which Hughes is president, the drill has opened up new oil reservoirs located below formerly impregnable hard rock formations.

Sheriff Asks Skunk to Leave; It Does

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 6 (AP) — Deputy Sheriff M. J. Vasseur was called to the home of Mrs. Oliver Dennis to evict a skunk which had set up a squatter's claim on a clothes closet.

Figuring that there was no place to annoy the animal, Vasseur cajoled "nice skunkie, come on out." To his surprise, the skunk did just that but immediately trotted under a bed. Vasseur waved a broom at the creature — very gently — and the interloper turned tail and fled through an open door. No runs, not hits, no errors.

CAN COLLECT GI PAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Widows, children and other survivors of former soldiers who died after honorable discharge from the Army and who did not claim their terminal leave pay prior to death are entitled to collect these payments, the War department announced today.

New Officers Installed By Linfield Firemen

Sitting for the first time in the president's chair of the Linfield Fire company, C. V. Miller conducted a routine meeting of the company in which the major action was the installation of new officers.

Besides Miller, the newly elected vice-president, Marty Chapey, officiated in that capacity. Also in their new position were Orion Sweetheart, financial secretary and William Marshall, treasurer.

It was announced that new emergency truck is expected within the month.

Sixteen members were admitted to full membership last night and propositions for 16 others were accepted.
